How Inadequate Treatment Leads to Chronic Migraine

SOME PEOPLE START WITH EPISODIC MIGRAINE, having 14 attacks or fewer each month. Now facing CHRONIC MIGRAINE, patients:

- Experience 15 or more headache attacks per month
- Face immense pain and debilitating symptoms
- May become disabled

Without proper treatment, patients may see their episodic attacks become chronic.

THEY SEEK HELP BUT:
- Can’t get in to see a headache specialist
- Struggle to find the right treatment, including opioid use
- Are misdiagnosed with anxiety, sinus infections or other common conditions
- May frequent the ER for pain relief

If patients’ migraine treatment doesn’t progress, their disease will.
