Camp Director Coach Jim Dennison

spent 53 years as a sports administrator and 31 years as a football coach. He coached the University of Akron from 1973 to 1985 and is Akron's winningest coach in program history. He was recruited to Walsh University as its director of athletics in 1993 and built its first football program. He left the game with an overall record of 208-139-2. Jim Tressel was a part of his staff for four years at Akron. He gave current Michigan State coach Mark Dantonio his first major coaching job. Two of his sons, Greg and Matt (New Philadelphia) coach two successful programs at the high school level.
