About the Festival

What is Les Bois Film Festival?

The Film Fest is a celebration of nature and the outdoors through film and art, with a special emphasis on local film makers, artists or stories that are connected to Boise and the Treasure Valley. These films inspire viewers to forge a deeper connection with the natural world, building a community around wildlife conservations and wild land preservation in Idaho's Treasure Valley. Funds raised by the Festival support the Land Trust of the Treasure Valley's work "conserving nature close to home."

Who produces the Festival?

The Land Trust of the Treasure Valley has been bringing inspirational outdoor oriented films to Boise since 2006- 11 years. "This is the best film festival I go to every year", said one regular attendee.

Why become a sponsor of the Les Bois Film Festival?

A LBFF sponsor is connected with a well-respected and enjoyed event, linked to a positive message about nature and the outdoors. Your company or organization will be visible: in print, social media postings and will receive exposure at the event. The Festival audience is far-reaching, and typically includes business owners, hikers, conservationists, hunters, bicyclists, horseback riders, parents, students and generally upbeat positive thinking people who are a lot of fun.

What are the details for this year's Festival?

The 2018 Les Bois Film Festival will be presented:

- Saturday, March 3, 2017
- at the Historic Egyptian Theatre in Downtown Boise (The Egyptian seats 750 people)
- local musicians will be on hand to entertain from the stage prior to the screenings
- two different sets of films will be screened
 - an afternoon all ages program
 - an evening program open to adults 21 and older
(beer and wine will be available for purchase in the evening)
- attendees will vote for their favorite film, selecting People's Choice Award winners

Why Les Bois?

While accounts differ on the exact origin of the name, the Festival takes its name from our capital city, Boise, which is thought have been derived from the French "Les Bois", meaning "The Trees/Wood" coined by early French visitors.
