Do you have a child attending a college or university other than JWU? If so, as a parent, the JWU Admissions Marketing team would appreciate your insight and perspective about the communications you received from that school during the admissions process.

JWU Admissions recognizes the important role parents have throughout the college selection process. Admissions Marketing is hosting a focus group for JWU employees who have children attending other colleges or universities. At this session, we want to learn more about the communications you received as a parent throughout the selection process. What stood out? What did you like? What did you find helpful?

If you would like to share your thoughts, please consider attending the focus group:

Admissions Marketing Parent Focus Group
Wednesday, February 12
3-4pm
Downcity Campus; John J Bowen Center for Innovation and Design
First Floor Presentation Room

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?
Any JWU employee with a child attending another college/university who would like to share their thoughts on the communication they received from other schools during the college selection process.

To RSVP or if you have questions, contact Alyssa Rainey, admissions marketing production coordinator.
