Updates from the Foundation President

Monterey County Gives! We received a check for $37,757.26 from the Monterey County Gives! Fund of the Community Foundation for Monterey County. That sum included an overall match of 17.93% ($5,884.610) from CFMC. We raised a total of $32,823 from 105 donors: $14,073 from individual donors and $18,750 from the Trustee challenge grant. [The donors are listed on page 5 of this issue.] The number of donors and the amount raised are the highest of the years that we have participated. Thank you all for your support.

National Historic Landmark Application: We are submitting an application for National Historical Landmark status. The application has had an anonymous peer review and reviews by Christopher Johnson, regional National Park Service Historian, and Lyn Causey, Historian with the National Historic Landmark Program of the National Park Service. FYI: “National Historic Landmarks are nationally significant places that illustrate important themes, persons, or events in American history. The National Historic Landmarks Program recognizes properties of exceptional national significance in the nation’s history, architecture, archeology, engineering, and culture.” Once revisions have been approved, the application has to be reviewed by the National Park System Advisory Board and then designated by the Secretary of the Interior. More as the process develops.

Work on Attic of Tor House Cottage: Thanks to his generous commitment of time and labor, our new special projects docent, James Monen, has taken the rug out of the attic of Tor House cottage and will be restoring the cork tile floor that was underneath it. This is the same cork tile that was used in the living room of the East Wing and the bathroom of the cottage. It is wonderful, now that the rug is gone, to see the trap door at the east end of the attic. The attic will be used as an archival storage area and workspace.

Dogs of Tor House: Dogs of Tor House by Coral Amende with an Epilogue by Una Jeffers Honscheid is at the printers. Coral has put together an extraordinary collection of photos from the Foundation’s archives (think Donnan and Garth as boys holding snakes, or Una and Edith 2 [the first two Mrs. Kusters] with Billie, or Mabel Dodge Luhan watching Haig and his brother York—Mabel’s bulldog—at play at Tor House). Wonderfully researched and beautifully written and formatted, the book also contains “The House Dog’s Grave” and Thomas Hardy’s elegy to his dog Wessex, which, Coral suggests, Jeffers “…may have been at least partially inspired by.” We expect the first run of 78 books to arrive soon. There are some fifty pages of text and photographs. Here Haig contemplates his world:

!Haig Contemplating His World

Tor House Poetry Readings: Monterey County Poet Laureate Rachelle Escamilla spoke on “Seeing Jeffers Landscape through New Eyes.” Escamilla, whose most recent poetry collection is Space Junk (Nommadic Press, 2023) is a visiting scholar at the Library of Congress and founder of writing programs in the US and China.

For up-to-date listings of poetry readings and other offerings, check our website at www.torhouse.org/events.
FROM THE TOR HOUSE ARCHIVES

A fragment as written by Blanche Mattias in October 1935

[Blanche and Russell Matthias met Robin and Una in 1926 and remained friends throughout their lives]

“Una came over to say good-bye about 5:30 this afternoon. We are leaving at daybreak for Los Angeles. Russell brought out a bottle of Bourbon and Una had two small glasses – straight. She’s never outwardly affected by the strongest, straightest liquor.

Russell was listening to a broadcast. Una and I were sitting on the couch. I told her of our reading some of Robin’s new poems after they left us last Wednesday night. Douglas Short read aloud. He wanted to know to whom Robin was speaking when he wrote “You.”

Noel said, “He’s writing to Una.” I said, “No, not that place.” Douglas said, “I think it was to Blanche.” Again I said, “No.” So I asked Una. She couldn’t remember the verse, and laughingly asked if I wondered that so often she seemed unfamiliar with Robin’s work. She then explained that it wouldn’t do for her to come too close to it. “I must keep up and man and woman part of life for him. It is that he needs and loves. His passion for me is the same terrific thing it was 25 years ago. We have the same tension and strain that we knew then. If I were to treat him as a marvelous being all would be lost. In 24 hours he would begin to slump. I must keep out of his work. I continue to stir his passion as I used to. It is this he needs. Without it he cannot write.”

News and Notes
The Tor House Foundation notes the passing of veteran docent Donna Rico on December 17 at the age of 92. She will be missed by all those who worked with her.

Inge Kessler, docent and poet, was recently honored by the Carmel Foundation as Artist of the Month.

Tim Hunt, distinguished Jeffers scholar, announces the March 15 publication of his latest volume of poetry, Western Where (Broadstone Books), a celebration of the West, as place and philosophy. The volume is available from the publisher or on Amazon.

Fran Vardamis reports that volunteers of the Friends of the Harrison Memorial Library are offering meticulously curated, gently read books at inflation-busting prices at Carmel’s unique book venues: Tue, Thurs, & Sat. at their Sunset Center Book Room, daily in the Park Branch lobby and Thursdays at the Carmel Farmers Market. Books and venues are donated, and all proceeds go to the library. Recently a first edition of Such Counsels You Gave to Me went for $5 and for a good cause. Good conversation available. Visitors welcome.

Tom’s Talk

Tom Rusert, Program and Docent Training Coordinator and Elliot Ruchowitz-Roberts, Foundation President recently honored Melinda Bowman, departing Administrative Assistant and introduced her replacement, Susie Joyce

Tom also notes:
Linda Laviolette Joins the THF Tour Docent Ranks
Having spent her first 40 years in the SF Bay Area and her next 30+ years in the Northwest, Linda chose Carmel in 2023 as the magical place for her next life chapter. Linda’s first career was as an environmental planner, including at US EPA in its infancy. Starting to work in the nonprofit sector in 1980, her three executive directorships and decades of consulting have fulfilled her desires to contribute to the well-being of the communities she has lived in, as well as all over the world. Linda has helped birth a few children as a coach, and is now helping loved ones in their death transitions. From the moment she attended her first tour at Tor House, she knew she wanted to be a Tor docent! Inspired? Tor House is always looking for new docents.

Tom coordinated an enrichment program and guided a group in an introduction to Robinson Jeffers. He notes: “For the first time, five young poets from Watsonville and Aptos, accompanied by Bob Gómez, Watsonville Poet Laureate, visited Tor House on Saturday, March 23. Eva Sophia Martínez Rodríguez, one of two Watsonville Youth Poets Laureate, was joined by 4 other young contributors to “Tierra y Justicia: Artists United Combating Climate Change,” and the Executive Director of the project, Dr. Leonor Pérez. The students presented their original poetry and also read several Jeffers poems in Spanish, while in Hawk Tower and Tor House. These poets will be featured at a culminating music, dance, and poetry event on May 10 at the Henry J. Mello Center for Performing Arts in Watsonville.”
THE LAST WORD FROM JEFFERS

With sea level rise and climate change intensifying winter storms, officials are bracing for more severe erosion along the cliffs and rocky escarpments that undergird Highway 1. The road's geography has always been tough. San Francisco Chronicle 4/3/24

THE COAST-ROAD

A horseman high alone as an eagle on the spur of the mountain over Mirmas Canyon draws rein, looks down
At the bridge-builders, men, trucks, the power-shovels, the teeming end of the new coast-road at the mountain's base.
He sees the loops of the road go northward, headland beyond headland, into gray mist over Fraser's Point,
He shakes his fist and makes the gesture of wringing a chicken's neck, scowls and rides higher.

I too
Believe that the life of men who ride horses, herders of cattle on the mountain pasture, plowers of remote Rock-narrowed farms in poverty and freedom, is a good life. At the far end of those loops of road Is what will come and destroy it, a rich and vulgar and bewildered civilization dying at the core, A world that is feverishly preparing new wars, peculiarly vicious ones, and heavier tyrannies, a strangely Missionary world, road-builder, wind-rider, educator, printer and picture-maker and broad-caster, So eager, like an old drunken whore, pathetically eager to impose the seduction of her fled charms On all that through ignorance or isolation might have escaped them. I hope the weathered horseman up yonder Will die before he knows what this eager world will do to his children. More tough-minded men Can repulse an old whore, or cynically accept her drunken kindnesses for what they are worth, But the innocent and credulous are soon corrupted.

Where is our consolation? Beautiful beyond belief
The heights glimmer in the sliding cloud, the great bronze gorge-cut sides of the mountain tower up invincibly,
Not the least hurt by this ribbon of road carved on their sea-foot.
