PHOTO PRODUCTION NOTES

We've been asked why we have two different prices for video-production vs. still photo-production. The main reason is impact - photo crews average less than 1/3 the size, cause less wear and tear (read: damage), have fewer needs and surprises, and consume less of everything like power, water, supplies. Even with that, the price is still comparable if you look at the hours in-studio for each.

Why don't we list hourly rates? We cannot let a reservation for one hour of studio time plunk down in the middle of the day and keep another client from renting the whole day. We sometimes do an hourly rate, for a 3hr minimum, but we don't allow a reservation or 'hold.' Just gotta get lucky and call the day before the day you want to shoot.

Are you shipping something to our address? Let us know, so we can be looking out for it. Shipping a LOT to us? Let us know, so we can clear holding areas.

Most importantly, we would love to put together a custom quote for you; since not every project (or budget) is the same. Just tell us what you need and we'll create a package.

Come by for a tour, meet the team, and see our industrial gem right next to downtown Atlanta.
