

Jeff Crume

“Living Life Backward”

I've gleaned some of life's greatest lessons through serving those who have already lived them. I've been afforded the rare and unique opportunity to live life backward; through the eyes of the dying.

Serving the dying, in hospice and palliative care, has created in me an insatiable desire to live, and to help others live their life to the fullest! My quest in life is sharing these lessons with the world; enriching the quality of life in others and bringing more peace, fulfillment, and happiness to humanity. - Jeff Crume

Jeff is a catalyst for change, growth, peak performance and life enrichment. Associations, small businesses, community organizations, and audiences wanting to be happier, healthier, and more productive, while finding deeper meaning and purpose in everyday life, hire Crume to inspire and empower their group.

Jeff leverages his experience in personal growth & development, and hospice and palliative care to provide his audience a unique perspective and rare insight into human behavior that identify root causes that keeps us from true success and fulfillment.

While his motivational and engaging style facilitates excitement, Jeff's more than two decades of experience provides great insight that brings systemic change to organizations and individuals alike.

Jeff's infectious zest for life, charismatic personality and compassion for humanity has made Jeff one of today's most influential and memorable speakers.
