Union Square-14th Street has demonstrated incredible resilience during the unprecedented past year. There are strong signs the district will not only continue its upward trajectory but also thrive as one of the City’s best neighborhoods to live, work, and invest in. In this report, we outline the neighborhood’s key advantages and highlight the positive indicators of continued economic growth and success.

Among Union Square’s many advantages is its function as a true “15-minute neighborhood,” with its wealth of local amenities and resources accessible within walking distance or a short bike ride. The availability of public space, in particular, has emerged as an even greater asset this year as Union Square Park and nearby streets and plazas have been key for safe recreation, social activity, and commerce.

OUR COMPETITIVE EDGE

Union Square-14th Street is well-positioned to rebound from the impacts of the pandemic based on several key advantages:

- A diverse mix of residents, retail, and office tenants activate the district and contribute to its 24/7 vibrancy.

- Numerous anchor institutions and top employers call Union Square home, including Con Edison, Mount Sinai, NYU, Paragon Sports, The New School, and The Strand, to name a few [see page 2 for more].

“Corridors that serve local residential neighborhoods have weathered this disruption better than regional destinations and areas that rely significantly on commuting and tourism.”

Anita Laremont, Executive Director
NYC Department of City Planning

- A robust transportation network, and a strong mix of shopping, dining, and community and cultural assets, including the world-famous Greenmarket and Holiday Market, are just a few of the district’s rich neighborhood offerings.

- Our crown jewel, Union Square Park, continues to drive foot traffic to the area and provide both respite and engaging activities for those who live, work, and visit here.

- Since January 2020, we have welcomed 30 new businesses and there are three more on the way, further demonstrating Union Square-14th Street’s strong appeal [see page 4 for more].

OUR RICH COMMERCIAL MIX

Union Square-14th Street is home to high-profile institutions and headquarters across a range of sectors. These include technology, advertising, media, and information (TAMI), hospitality, real estate, and design, along with a mix of retailers, both local landmarks and national brands alike.

This rich mix continues to be a major draw. Since March 2020, retail spending is up 74%, including e-commerce, and total trips to the area across all mobility is up 57%, according to the data source powered by Replica.

"When it was time to find a larger home office for our team, we could only imagine ourselves adjacent to Union Square. Between the Greenmarket, its proximity to so many of our restaurants, and its exceptional transportation, Union Square was the spot."

BETTING ON UNION SQUARE’S BRIGHT FUTURE

New developments across Union Square-14th Street are picking up momentum, introducing a range of transformative projects to the district’s skyline and public realm. Among the exciting projects underway, which include a civic center, two modern residential towers, and a boutique hotel, several projects have recently reached key milestones:

- Completion of the landmark restoration of Tammany Hall has introduced a new architectural icon at 44 Union Square, including office and retail opportunities.
- Zero Irving’s Tech Training Center is on track to complete in Spring 2021. The project aims to bring 550 permanent jobs to the area.
- The City implemented a dedicated busway, improving access along 14th Street with the rollout of M14 Select Bus Service. In the months following its installation, ridership on the route increased 14% and travel times decreased 24%.
- USP unveiled the Union Square-14th Street District Vision Plan, an ambitious proposal that envisions a 33% increase in public space, and significant improvements to district accessibility and the overall pedestrian environment.

Investment in Union Square’s future remains strong, with over $850 million committed to projects across the commercial, residential, and health sectors, totaling over 1 million square feet of new development.

Since January 2020, there have been over $500 million in residential sales around Union Square and there are more than 200 residential units in development. We look forward to welcoming our new neighbors to the district soon.

"Union Square is among NYC’s most iconic neighborhoods, with its special combination of outdoor space, transportation, and amenities. Zero Irving, scheduled to open in Spring 2021, brings Class A office space, an Urbanspace food hall, and a tech training center, all of which complement the neighborhood."

NEW + COMING SOON

Since January 2020, 33 businesses have opened or plan to open in Union Square, including a mix of eateries, retailers, beauty, and professional services. These include 25 brand new to the district, five that relocated to a new or renovated space within the district, and three that have announced plans to open soon. Looking ahead, we are excited to welcome these new additions, including Rookie and the Urbanspace Food Hall in 2021, and Target in 2023.

2021 COMMERCIAL MARKET REPORT
PUBLIC-PRIVATE PARTNERSHIPS DRIVE NEIGHBORHOOD SUCCESS

Today, organizations across New York City, like the Union Square Partnership, are tackling the unprecedented challenge of helping to restart the City’s economy as we begin to come out of a global pandemic. USP maintains a strong commitment to its core services, which have roots in the organization’s early efforts to revitalize the neighborhood when it was created in 1976. We believe that our work is just as crucial now as when we were first founded, especially when addressing quality of life issues such as public safety and sanitation while beautifying our public spaces.

"The district benefits from a strong network of organizations and people driving the neighborhood's growth. We are confident that our work together will fuel the district's next decade of success."

Jennifer Falk
Union Square Partnership

Traveling throughout Manhattan over the past few weeks, the impact of our organization's work is clear as our dedicated staff, including our Clean Team, work daily to maintain the district’s streets and our beloved Union Square Park with supplemental services. We are proud to serve as the organization that advocates for, beautifies, and catalyzes change in the Union Square-14th Street area, making it, by any measure, one of the most successful neighborhoods in NYC. USP’s commitment to our work is unwavering as we chart a path forward to continued prosperity.

USP works year-round to foster positive change through a wide range of programs, including:

- CLEAN + SAFE
  USP’s clean and safe programs ensure that the district remains welcoming and a great place to live, visit and do business.

- ADVOCACY + ASSISTANCE

- ACCESS TO PPE

- DISTRICT ALERTS
  Communication is key for district partners in planning for the next steps in the area’s recovery. USP keeps partners informed so they can plan accordingly.

- PUBLIC SPACE ENHANCEMENTS
  Whether investing in beautification efforts throughout the district or planning for the area’s future through our Vision Process, USP continues to enhance the physical landscape.

- AMPLIFYING PROJECT MILESTONES
  Despite the challenges, construction and investments continue throughout the area and USP keeps partners informed of the progress and troubleshoots when needed.

- COMMUNITY EVENTS
  Bringing people together is more challenging than ever before and USP continues to find ways to bring partners together through online events and smaller in-person activations.
