

JAKARTA, INDONESIA, AND BROOKLYN, NEW YORK

Opposite page: Indonesia has the world's largest Muslim population. In its capital city stands Istiqlal, one of the world's largest mosques, where 10,000 pray as one. Below: At a church in Brooklyn, a solitary boy communes with his God. There's been a decadelong revival of Christian fervor in New York, and today, there are 7,100 evangelical, charismatic, and Pentecostal churches in the city.
