

Drummond and Church Wood Residents' Association

The Drummond and Church Wood Residents' Association was formed in 2003. We are the formally constituted community association for our area and recognised as such by Leeds City Council. We meet three times a year and membership is free.

Our Association covers 100 or so houses in six roads, Church Wood Avenue, Church Wood Mount, Church Wood Road, Drummond Avenue, Drummond Road and Drummond Court. These were largely built in the 1910-20s and also in the 1960s. We are in a quiet part of Far Headingley conveniently located between the A660, the grounds of St Chad's Church, and Leeds Beckett University's Headingley Campus.

We have easy access to a great variety of local amenities including schools, parks, shops, a garage, pubs and restaurants, the long-standing and independent Cottage Road Cinema, St Chad's Church with its very active Parish Centre and associated tennis and cricket clubs, and we have very good, frequent public transport.

The Residents' Association is committed to helping ensure the safety and wellbeing of our residents, and helping conserve the historical character of the area whilst also enhancing the quality of the local environment.

We are very sociable and actively welcome new people to join us.
