Summary

Our census of community foundations continues to show strong growth for the field. We estimate that assets at all 833 community foundations in the United States grew to about $143.9 billion in 2021, an increase of nearly 13% over the 2020 level of $127.4 billion. In the five years from 2016 to 2021, assets at community foundations soared 58% (from a level of $91.2 billion in 2016).

Aggregate Assets of All US-Based Community Foundations

(Actual Data 2016-2019; Estimates for 2020-2021)

A Note on Data Collection

Data for the community foundation census comes from several sources:

- “The Columbus Survey”, a self-reporting survey formerly conducted by the Columbus Foundation and now overseen by CF Insights, which is part of Candid¹;
- Audited financial statements;
- Form 990 data, generally retrieved from GuideStar or ProPublica; and,
- In a small number of cases, estimates were used due to delays in financial reporting by community foundations.

Our 2021 survey includes actual information for all community foundations for the years 2016-2019. Information for 2020 and 2021 is an estimate based on a sampling of representative community foundations and could change as actual data is released.

In addition – we know that, despite our best efforts, errors can and do occur. If you see information that is incorrect, please contact us and we will correct the data in future releases of community foundation census data.

List of Largest Community Foundations Relatively Unchanged

For the fourth year in a row, the Silicon Valley Community Foundation remains the largest community foundation in the United States. The relative ranking of other community foundations in the top 20 has changed little since 2016.

Fastest Growing Community Foundation

Some community foundations experienced extraordinary growth in the last few years – in come cases, doubling in asset size. In many of these instances, growth came through the transfer of another foundation’s assets, a hospital conversion, or a “mega gift” from a donor, generally in an estate plan.

For the period 2016-19, the fastest-growing community foundations² were as follows:
