Dear Friends and Supporters of NYPACE,

Thank you for making 2018 a record year for NYPACE! With your help, we succeeded in reaching unprecedented levels of impact, collaboration, and funding as we advanced our mission of stimulating job creation and sustainable economic development in New York City by providing pro bono consulting to under-resourced entrepreneurs.

Helping to drive our growth are two trends that NYPACE continues to leverage. The first is an ever-expanding interest in skills-based volunteerism. We’re finding that professionals from all backgrounds are seeking meaningful channels to give back in ways that engage their proven skills and experience. We doubled our advisor corps to over 100 strong in 2018 by offering compelling and challenging projects that called for analytical skills in areas such as financial modeling, competitive analysis, and digital marketing - as well as soft skills requiring judgment and nuance.

NYPACE is also leveraging a second major trend - the surge of entrepreneurship in New York City among people of color, immigrants, and veterans - all of whom lay at the heart of our mission. Through a bold volunteer engagement pilot initiated by JPMorgan Chase, we added seven new community-based channel partners to help us identify and select the most promising entrepreneurs in the City, with each committed to increasing sales, creating new jobs, and growing their businesses.

The underlying theme that drives our work is Creating Equal Opportunity For All and we do this by democratizing access: to information, advice, and capital. All of this work is important, but none of it would be possible without your help. Thank you for your belief in NYPACE and your ongoing support of entrepreneurship in New York City. We will continue to do all we can to fulfill our commitment of leveling the playing field to advance business opportunity for all.

LETTER FROM EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

MISSION

Our mission is to stimulate job creation and sustainable economic development by providing pro-bono consulting to under-represented, under-resourced entrepreneurs in New York City.

NYPACE has emerged as one of the New York’s leading skills-based volunteer engagement programs, maintaining an active corps of over 100 volunteer advisors providing nearly $1M in consulting value per year. In 2018 we will double the volume of our consulting services to help more than 50 under-resourced entrepreneurs in NYC grow their businesses and create jobs.

WHAT WE DO

NYPACE provides entrepreneurs with the strategic guidance needed to take their businesses to the next level. Each entrepreneur is matched with a team of volunteer advisors who focus on the following core business areas over a 90 day period:

+ Market research, including analyzing the size of market, scoping current and potential competitors, and uncovering blind spots.
+ Financial modeling, including addressing capital needs, cash flow projections, break-even analysis, and pricing strategy.
+ Marketing, including developing the value proposition and sales pitch, and optimizing marketing channels.

MISSION

Dollaride’s mission is to provide fair access to affordable transportation to all residents living in the transit deserts of New York City, unserved by the current subway and bus system. Using an innovative technological platform, Dollaride gives marginalized communities access to transportation that is clean, safe, and inexpensive.

PROJECT WORK SCOPE

- Conducting market research to better understand current and potential costs, revenue, competition, and technology.
- Developing financial modeling to optimize Dollaride’s pricing, margin, and leveraging of competitive advantages.
- Refining Mr. Sanni’s personal narrative and developing the credible financial projections required to secure access to growth capital.

IMPACT

- Dollaride received provisional approval for a $1M grant from NYSERDA – New York State Energy Research and Development Authority – to demonstrate the potential for technology to connect people living in transit deserts to NYC public transit.
- Dollaride is poised to add 7 full-time employees in its first full year of operation.

Dear Friends and Supporters of NYPACE,

Thank you for helping us make 2018 a banner year for NYPACE! Through your engagement and support we are on track to achieve record levels of performance across all of the key metrics measuring the scale and impact of NYPACE, including all-time high benchmarks for:

- Projects completed
- Entrepreneurs served
- Volunteer advisors engaged
- Jobs created
- Funding raised

During this year of unprecedented growth, NYPACE has emerged as one of New York’s leading skills-based volunteer engagement programs. We were especially grateful for the opportunity to collaborate with JPMorgan Chase (JPMC) in an innovative pilot designed to assist small business owners operating in under-resourced, under-served communities of NYC.

Through a coordinated effort with JPMC’s Small Business Forward Initiative and NYPACE, volunteer teams of JPMC advisors helped ten entrepreneurs across the City scale their operations, create jobs, and increase their access to capital. The businesses receiving pro bono assistance included a candy maker in Brooklyn, a neighborhood pub in Brooklyn, a coffee roaster in the Bronx, and a cyber-security firm in Manhattan.

NYPACE has come a long way since our inception in 2001 but we have far to go, particularly when considering there are over 100,000 independent small businesses operating in New York City, many of which are owned by veterans, immigrants, women, and people of color - the very populations that we serve.

But we cannot continue this important work alone and we’re grateful to our many program partners and sponsors for your ongoing support. We welcome, and need, your continued participation. Thank you for supporting NYPACE and for your belief in our work and mission. Together we will continue to level the playing field for small business ownership to ensure equal opportunity for all.
