After William was orphaned by his parents, he was being cared for by a woman in the village. He was required to make brooms in the market in trade for food and care. When the SERV team learned about him they had to physically remove the broom materials from his hands to bring him to the House of Hope Kenya. He had a variety of illnesses and parasites that required time at the hospital. Once he recovered he joined his new family at the orphanage. He is now flourishing and dreaming of becoming a doctor to help others.

William’s story is one of thousands of stories that took place this year. Thank you for being a hero to all those we serve locally and globally.

Spotlight

Summer of 1992 I was standing on the dusty path that acted as a border between war-torn Sudan, and the country of Kenya. As I stood there, hundreds of kids walked by me who had escaped forced recruitment to become child soldiers and walked for weeks to their new home, Kakuma Refugee Camp. During my early life in Kenya, I witnessed the pain of war in the faces of kids my age. Atrocities of missing limbs, and malnutrition were a common factor among the people immigrating. Due to an influx of refugee children into a community lacking basic resources, food became more scarce to come by. The indigenous community was surviving on limited resources due to the harsh desert climate. I witnessed first hand, my school mates and the community suffer from malnutrition and after a while people started succumbing to the shortage of food. 11 years ago I came to America for the first time and I have been on a mission to make a difference.

I hope by sharing my story, we can realize that hunger is not just a statistic but a reality for many people I know. With your help, we can save a life and just maybe a generation. I’m excited to be part of this team and using this platform to share the greatest gift which is Jesus to thousands of people. Thank you for allowing me to be part of this journey with you.
