

Moderator: Rachael Jensen (University of Nebraska-Omaha)

Panelists: Lindsay Meyer Bond (The Ohio State University)

Greg Linke (Clemson University)

Sandy Weaver (Penn State University)

Meet the Panel

- Moderator: Rachael Jensen
Youth Safety Coordinator
Support Services
University of Nebraska at Omaha
402.554.3453
rachaeljensen@unomaha.edu
- Panelist: Lindsay Meyer Bond
Youth Policy Coordinator
Office of Human Resources
The Ohio State University
614.688.8643
Bond.217@osu.edu
- Panelist: Greg Linke, MA
Director
Pre-Collegiate Programs Office
Clemson University
864.656.5716
glinke@clemson.edu
- Panelist: Sandy Weaver, MS
Youth Program Compliance Specialist
Office of Ethics & Compliance
Penn State University
814.865.8785
stw126@psu.edu

Topics Discussed

- Overview of student program
- How it got started
- Primary responsibilities of student
- What does the next generation need to know to do this work?

Testimonials

"This position taught me a great deal of variety in terms of professional work. Ranging anywhere from policy compliance / HR relations, to broadening my background experience in a social/human services career, or even pursuing a criminal justice/legal, business administration related field. The nature of the OSU position is very versatile, and provides a very well rounded set of skills... This position at Ohio State helped me in framing my career path, as now I have more exposure, experience and interest in HR and policy relations in a university atmosphere. Essentially it has inspired me to pursue a dual J.D/M.B.A degree further on in graduate school. In order to one day be able to be an HR manager, director or even an S.V.P of an H.R firm. Currently, I have received career opportunities for talent management, project management and other HR positions in various companies. I am so very grateful for this work opportunity, as I was able to leave college with an incredible resume with a credible work experience and ethic that is valued in our current job market".

Testimonials

"I decided to pursue a career in compliance my senior year of college, so I needed experience and direction quickly. Sandy was open to the idea of having a mentee and kindly took me under her wing. With this adaptable mentorship, where we worked together to cater to my interests and goals, I was able to sit in on all sorts of meetings and ask about both general compliance and specific youth protection topics. Sandy was especially helpful because she taught me about important career topics in general, rather than just about those related to compliance. In job applications and interviews, I often cited things I learned from this mentorship and I know that I got a lot more looks on my resume by just having the experience. I am now a Compliance Team Coordinator for a financial services company. The people who interviewed me told me that my compliance experience made me stand out from the other entry-level applicants. I am now better able to manage my role and suggest ways to improve our compliance program as a result of the many things I learned as a mentee of Sandy."

Testimonials

"...excited for the opportunity to have a job that would provide me with professional development and a great work environment... Over this past summer I spent a number of days shadowing the previous youth policy assistant as well as Lindsay and accompanying them to a couple of site visits while also learning about the administrative work going on behind the scenes. Initially when I began learning about the field I was shocked to learn about the sheer volume of programs that Ohio State offers for minors. I was even more surprised to learn that, up until a handful of years ago, there was no unilateral process for overseeing these programs and how they go about serving and protecting minor participants. I have already learned so much about the major risk areas, how to detect signs of abuse and about the preventative measures that OSU takes to keep minors safe on campus... I am confident that my experience in this position will provide me with invaluable organizational, communication and problem-solving skills that I will carry on into a prospective career in law and I feel extremely fortunate to be granted the opportunity to foster this development under Lindsay's guidance."