About Green Roofs for Healthy Cities

Green Roofs for Healthy Cities (GRHC) is a non-profit industry association working to promote the green roof and wall industry throughout North America.

Mission

GRHC’s mission is to develop and protect the green roof and wall market by increasing awareness of the economic, social and environmental benefits of green roofs, green walls, and other forms of living architecture.

These goals are achieved through a combination of education, advocacy, professional development, and celebrations of excellence.

Policy Accomplishments

- Instrumental in green roof policy development in cities such as San Francisco, Toronto, Washington DC, Portland, and New York City
- Development of policy and market development tools such as Living Architecture Policy Library and Industry Surveys
- Supported Denver’s successful green roof ballot initiative
- Development of capacity building and technical assistance tools and programs through the Green Infrastructure Foundation, GRHC’s charitable arm
- Prepared the Policy Report which has descriptions of more than 30 jurisdiction’s policies
Local Market Development

As part of its mission to advocate for green roof and wall policy across North America, Green Roofs for Healthy Cities hosts Local Market Development Symposia.

The Local Market Symposium program is a GRHC event series used in emerging green roof markets to advocate for policy support. GRHC has held Symposia in more than 40 cities across North America.

These one-day events feature industry experts and local policy leaders presenting on green roof and wall benefits and best practices, standout local projects, and the importance of strong green roof and wall policy. Symposia also feature a small trade show for green roof and wall companies, and interactive panel discussions to help promote and develop local policy options.

Supportive green roof and wall policy and programming is an important driver for growing any local market, and has led to immense market growth in cities like Washington D.C., Chicago, and Toronto.
