

16' WIANNO JUNIOR

Capacity: 3

16' 5" Sloop

About the Wianno Jr.

Smaller sister to the Wianno Sr., "Oh Monah" is a sloop-rigged, easy to handle, shoal draft, centerboard daysailer that was originally conceived as a junior trainer in the Cape Cod area and raced regularly up until the early 1960s. Great little sailboat for breezy afternoons on Rockland harbor.

15' PENOBSCOT BAY PEAPOD

Capacity: 3

About the Peapod:

This beautiful double-ender was recently built in our shop. Pea pods were widely used throughout the coast of Maine for fishing and even lobstering under oar and sail. This stout little boat with its spritsail rig is perfect for exploring the harbor.

ROWBOATS

SHIP CHANDLER'S WHITEHALL

Capacity: 1-4

Rowing stations: 2

Details: 16' Ship Chandler's Whitehall

About the Whitehall:

The most noted of American rowing workboats, whitehalls row easy, track well, and move fast through both smooth and choppy water.

Roomy, stable and comfortable, one or two rowers will enjoy zipping out to the Breakwater and back, or seal watching in the north end of the harbor. Comfortable seating for an additional passenger.

12' SUSAN SKIFF

Capacity: 1-3

Rowing stations: 2

About the Susan Skiff:

This little flat-bottom skiff is a perfect harbor tender for exploring the quiet spots and shallows of Rockland harbor. With its wide, flat bottom the Susan is stable and will let you row in just inches of water. Two rowing stations with a passenger seat back aft
