FIGHTING FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS

As Little Tokyo and the areas around it continue to change, LTCC is committed to maintaining our historic and cultural roots, strengthening our vibrant cultural district, protecting our legacy small businesses, and advocating for our residents. We are continuing decades of community organizing to sustain Little Tokyo for future generations.

WHAT WE DO

• Build community power through organizing and education.
• Build political power by engaging with public officials.
• Create a vision for Little Tokyo’s future and collaborate with community partners to sustain our Historic Japantown for future generations.

WHAT WE’VE DONE

• Metro Rail Projects
  Pushed Regional Connector station underground and won major community benefits. Organized to discard WSAB rail lines that could have displaced our community.

• Community Benefits for New Developments
  Including business interruption funds during construction and the creation of new public art.

• Transportation and Street Improvement
  Such as the construction of the affordable Aiso Parking Garage, and the 3rd St & Omar signal for a safer pedestrian path for our senior residents.

LITTLE TOKYO IS HOME

Little Tokyo is over 130 years old, the 2nd oldest neighborhood in Los Angeles, 1 of 3 remaining historic Japantowns left in the nation, and a CA Cultural District. Home to some of our nation’s most important Japanese American institutions, Little Tokyo has been dramatically reshaped by WWII Japanese American incarceration camps and decades of redevelopment and displacement. Yet Little Tokyo has and continues to be the cultural home for the Southern California Japanese American community and our historically multi-ethnic community!
