

Ziosk Shifts Leadership as Jack Baum assumes President and CEO role and Austen Mulinder Moves to Strategic Advisor and Board Member

DALLAS, TX – October 20, 2017 -- Ziosk today announced a change in leadership roles as co-founder and Chairman, Jack Baum becomes president and CEO, while Austen Mulinder assumes a role as strategic advisor. Mr. Mulinder will also remain a member of the Company's Board of Directors.

Mr. Mulinder needs to spend more time in the U.K. to be with his aging parents and has made the decision to assume a strategic advisory role with the company. Chairman and co-founder, Jack Baum, who has been focused on key strategic priorities, has now assumed the President and CEO duties. Mr. Mulinder, a founding Board member and also one of the largest shareholders, is continuing as a Board member and will take accountability for a number of strategic priorities for the company including important international expansion plans.

About Ziosk

Based in Dallas, Ziosk is the maker of the first entertainment, ordering and pay-at-the-table tablet for the restaurant market. The original Ziosk technology and newly launched Ziosk Aurizon™ next generation tablets, each feature 7-inch and 8-inch devices with encrypted credit card readers. The tablets reside on each table, enabling guests to see menu items, play games, view news and entertainment, order food and beverages and 'pay on demand,' all of which gives guests control over their dining experience. With its interactive capabilities, Ziosk and its footprint have created the Ziosk® Media Network, a digital media platform for partners to create engaging experiences at the point of purchase. Ziosk is revolutionizing the experience and economics of dining. For more information, please visit www.ziosk.com.
