Draft Law for a Ukrainian High War Crimes Court

Prepared by the Public International Law & Policy Group
DRAFT LAW FOR A UKRAINIAN HIGH WAR CRIMES COURT

PREPARED BY THE PUBLIC INTERNATIONAL LAW & POLICY GROUP

Introductory Note

The International Criminal Court (ICC) has opened an investigation and will likely prosecute a handful of high-level perpetrators of atrocity crimes committed in Ukraine. Since the ICC does not have jurisdiction over the crime of aggression with respect to Ukraine, there are proposals to establish a hybrid international or regional tribunal to prosecute high-level Russians for the crime of aggression currently under discussion. Because these international mechanisms are designed to prosecute a small number of individuals, there is recognition that most of the perpetrators will need to be prosecuted by domestic courts in Ukraine. Yet, history has shown that without international assistance and involvement it is inherently difficult to fairly and effectively prosecute foreign nationals and separatists in ordinary domestic courts during and in the aftermath of an armed conflict.

This draft Law, prepared by the Public International Law & Policy Group, Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP, and a number of consulted experts, draws from the Law on the High Anti-Corruption Court of Ukraine and best practices of other States to provide the template for a Ukrainian High War Crimes Court to prosecute atrocity crimes committed in Ukraine since November 2013. It is a discussion draft intended to inform the formulation of a domestic prosecutorial mechanism that will complement the efforts by existing domestic courts, the ICC, and any future hybrid international tribunal for the crime of aggression.¹ The footnotes include options and explanations for the proposed provisions.

¹ Ukraine is not a member of the International Criminal Court (ICC); however, it has accepted the court’s limited jurisdiction over alleged crimes committed on its territory since November 2013. The ICC could exercise jurisdiction over individuals accused of war crimes, crimes against humanity and genocide in cases in which domestic courts are unable or unwilling to prosecute, such as if high-level accused perpetrators are present in a third country which is unwilling to extradite him to Ukraine for prosecution. Because of its limited capacity and the number of other situations it is currently investigating and prosecuting, the ICC traditionally asserts jurisdiction over only a handful of the highest-level defendants, so there would still be a need for the High War Crimes Court of Ukraine to prosecute the next level of culpable civilian and military leaders. Further, the ICC would not have jurisdiction over the crime of aggression since the Russian Federation has not consented to jurisdiction over that crime pursuant to the 2010 Aggression Amendment to the Rome Statute.

Chapter I. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1. Definitions

For the purposes of this legislation, the following terms shall mean:

Atrocity crimes: are those international crimes recognized in the Amended Statute of the International Criminal Court (“ICC”), namely war crimes, crimes against humanity, genocide, and crimes of aggression.

Gender: refers to the two sexes, male and female, within the context of society.

International armed conflicts: exist when two or more States resort to armed force.

International humanitarian law: the set of rules seeking, for humanitarian reasons, to limit the effects of international armed conflicts and non-international armed conflicts. It protects persons who have not or are no longer participating in the hostilities and restricts the means and methods of warfare.

Non-international armed conflicts: protracted armed confrontations occurring between governmental armed forces and the forces of one or more armed groups, or between such groups arising on the territory of a State party to the Geneva Conventions. The armed confrontation must reach a minimum level of intensity and the parties involved in the conflict must show a minimum of organization. Situations of internal disturbances and tensions, such as riots, isolated and sporadic acts of violence or other acts of a similar nature are excluded.

Article 2. The status of the High War Crimes Court

1. The High War Crimes Court is a highly specialized court in the judicial system of Ukraine, consisting of Trial Chambers and an Appeals Chamber similar to the High Anti-Corruption Court of Ukraine. It will have an initial duration of 10 years that may be extended in accordance with Ukrainian law.

2 This definition was recommended by the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) in its opinion paper “How is the Term ‘Armed Conflict’ defined in International Humanitarian Law?” (March 2008), p. 5, available at: https://www.icrc.org/en/doc/assets/files/other/opinion-paper-armed-conflict.pdf

3 International humanitarian law is also known as the law of war or the law of armed conflict. This definition was taken from ICRC’s paper entitled What is International Humanitarian Law? (2004), available at: https://www.icrc.org/en/doc/assets/files/other/what_is_ihl.pdf

5 This language is taken from Article 8(d) of the International Criminal Court (ICC) Statute.
2. The High War Crimes Court is a legal entity, has a seal with the National Emblem of Ukraine and its name on it.

3. The High War Crimes Court is located in the city of Kyiv, Ukraine. The Court may relocate to and conduct proceedings elsewhere in Ukraine when appropriate and feasible.

Article 3. The language of the High War Crimes Court

The official language of the Court shall be Ukrainian. Working languages of the Court shall include English and Ukrainian. In the event of any discrepancies between documents, the Ukrainian version of the document will prevail. The Court will make sure that the necessary translations of documents and simultaneous interpretations during oral proceedings are available.

Article 4. The legislative framework of the functioning of the High War Crimes Court.

5. Amendments to this Law may be made exclusively by laws on the introduction of changes to the Law of Ukraine “On the High War Crimes Court.”

Article 5. Objectives of the High War Crimes Court

6. The objective of the High War Crimes Court is the administration of justice in accordance with the principles and procedures of the judiciary prescribed by the law with the view to protect individuals and society from war crimes, crimes against humanity, genocide, the crime of aggression, and related crimes recognized by Ukraine. Additionally, the High War Crimes Court will have judicial oversight over pre-trial investigation of these crimes, and observance of rights, freedoms and interests of individuals in a criminal proceeding.

6 Including English as a working language is justified by the fact that the Court will include foreign legal advisors and that evidence may have been gathered in the English language by international humanitarian agencies present in Ukraine.

7 This is to address potential issues in the domestic legislation arising from having English as a working language of the Court.

8 Article 12(3) of the Law of Ukraine on the Judiciary and Status of Judges reads: Courts shall use the official language in the course of the judicial proceedings and guarantee citizens' right to use their native language, or the language they speak, in the course of the proceedings.” With respect to whether this Article is limited to Ukrainian citizens, it appears it does not. According to Article 7(2) of the same law (the right to a fair trial), “[f]oreigners, stateless persons and foreign legal entities shall be entitled to judicial protection in Ukraine on equal basis with the citizens and legal entities of Ukraine.” In any case, the Court should have whatever translators necessary on its staff at all times to facilitate the smooth conduction of the proceedings. Further, According to the experience of the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda (“ICTR”), switching to simultaneous translation during oral proceedings (as opposed to consecutive interpretation), has resulted in a 25% time saving.
7. As a matter of policy, the main purpose of the High War Crimes Court is to prosecute those persons most responsible for committing atrocity crimes in Ukraine since November 2013. For the purposes of this Law, “persons most responsible” means a person or persons who were knowingly responsible for any or all of the following acts: planning, instigating, inciting, funding, ordering or providing other logistics which directly or indirectly facilitated the commission of crimes falling within the jurisdiction of the Court; in determining whether a person or persons falls within this category for purposes of bringing charges, the Prosecutor shall have regard to factors including the leadership role or level of authority or decision making power or influence of the person concerned and the gravity, severity, seriousness or scale of the crime committed.

Chapter II.
ORGANIZATION OF THE FUNCTIONING OF THE HIGH WAR CRIMES COURT

Article 6 Powers and Jurisdiction of the High War Crimes Court

8. The High War Crimes Court shall:

administer justice as the first-instance and appeal court in criminal proceedings concerning crimes within its jurisdiction according to procedural law as well as by means of performing, in cases and pursuant to the procedure prescribed by the law, judicial oversight over observance of rights, freedoms and interests of individuals in such criminal proceedings; analyze judicial statistics, study and generalize judicial practice in criminal proceedings within its jurisdiction, inform the Supreme Court on the results of such generalization and provide it with proposals for conclusions on draft legislative acts pertaining to the organization and activity of the High War Crimes Court, special requirements to the judges of this court and guarantees of their activity, as well as publish them on its official website.

9 It is envisioned that the Prosecutors’ Office will select which war crimes cases will be tried by ordinary Ukrainian courts and which will be directed to the High War Crimes Court.
10 It is understood that the prosecutors acting before the High War Crimes Court are to be special prosecutors trained in international criminal law, and assisted by international experts. Such a category of special prosecutors shall be created within the General Prosecutor’s office by an amendment to the applicable law.
11 This is the definition of the Special Tribunal for Kenya Bill of “persons bearing the greatest responsibility.” We understand that the “persons most responsible” is a broader concept targeting not only the top ranking officials but also middle level officials. We believe this definition, however, might be broad enough to accomplish such goal. The Kenyan Tribunal was never created but the bill was drafted following the experience of the Special Court for Sierra Leone (SCSL), which encountered various jurisdictional challenges based on the “persons bearing the greatest responsibility” language. In fact, in the context of the creation of the SCSL the United Nations’ Secretary-General suggested to the United Nations Security Council to use the alternative terms “persons most responsible” to replace the “greatest responsibility” language. He stated: “[w]hile those ‘most responsible’ obviously include the political or military leadership, others in command authority down the chain of command may also be regarded ‘most responsible’ judging by the severity of the crime or its massive scale. ‘Most responsible[,]’ therefore, denotes either a leadership or authority position of the accused, and a sense of the gravity, seriousness or massive scale of the crime. It must be seen, however, not as a test criterion or a distinct jurisdictional threshold, but as a guidance to the Prosecutor in the adoption of a prosecution strategy and in making decisions to prosecute in individual cases.” Taking all the above into account, the prosecution of the “most responsible” is included here in the objectives of the High Court as a matter of policy instead of in the article dealing with jurisdiction.
9. Territorial jurisdiction of the High War Crimes Court shall cover the entire territory of Ukraine.¹²

10. The Court shall have subject matter jurisdiction over atrocity crimes, in particular, the following:¹³

a) The Crime of Genocide¹⁴

i. Article 442 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code defines genocide as “a willfully committed act for the purpose of total or partial destruction of any national, ethnic, racial, or religious group by extermination of members of any such group or inflicting grave bodily injuries on them, creation of life conditions calculated for total or partial physical destruction of the group, decrease or prevention of childbearing in the group, or forcible transferring of children from one group to another… and also making any materials with calls to genocide for the purpose of distribution, or distribution of such materials.”

ii. Under principles of international law recognized by the Ukraine contained in the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide, dated December 9, 1948, “genocide” means any of the following acts committed with intent to destroy, in whole or in part, a national, ethnical, racial or religious group, as such:

1) killing members of the group;
2) causing serious bodily or mental harm to members of the group;
3) deliberately inflicting on the group conditions of life calculated to bring about its physical destruction in whole or in part;
4) imposing measures intended to prevent births within the group; and
5) forcibly transferring children of the group to another group.

iii. The following acts shall be punishable:

1) genocide;
2) conspiracy to commit genocide;
3) direct and public incitement to commit genocide;
4) attempt to commit genocide; and

¹² This includes areas of Ukraine currently under the control of a foreign State.
¹³ In addition to these four internationally recognized atrocity crimes, the High War Crimes Court would have jurisdiction over related crimes contained in the Criminal Code of Ukraine such as: Article 109 (actions aimed at forceful change or overthrow of the constitutional order or take-over of government), Article 110 (trespass against territorial integrity and inviolability of Ukraine), Article 110-2 (financing of actions committed for the purpose of forcible change or overthrow of the constitutional order or take-over of government, change of boundaries of the territory or state border of Ukraine), Article 112 (trespass against life of a statesman or a public figure), Article 155 (murder), Article 127 (torture), Article 146 (illegal confinement or abduction of a person), Article 146-1 (hostage taking), Article 152 (rape), Article 332-2 (illegal crossing of the state border of Ukraine), Article 349 (hostage taking of a representative of government authorities or a law enforcement officer), Article 437 (planning, preparation and waging of an aggressive war), Article 438 (violation of rules of the warfare), Article 439 (use of weapons of mass destruction), and Article 447 (use of mercenaries).
¹⁴ The definition of the crime of genocide in this Law is based on Articles II and III of the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide.
5) complicity in genocide.

b) – Crimes against Humanity

i. According to internationally recognized principles of customary international law codified in the Rome Statute for an International Criminal Court, and reflected in various provisions of the Ukraine Criminal Code, “crimes against humanity” means any of the following acts when committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against any civilian population, with knowledge of the attack:

1) Murder,
2) Extermination,
3) Enslavement;
4) Deportation or forcible transfer of population;
5) Imprisonment or other severe deprivation of physical liberty in violation of fundamental norms of international law;
6) Torture.

15 The definition of crimes against humanity in this Law is based on Article 7 of the ICC Statute, excluding the crimes of apartheid and enforced sterilization, which do not appear applicable in the context of the armed conflict in Ukraine. This definition is widely viewed as reflecting customary international law. The Criminal Code of Ukraine does not have a specific Article on Crimes Against Humanity, but various Articles of the Code do reflect the types of crimes recognized as a Crime Against Humanity when committed on a systematic and widespread basis. Nevertheless, it is recommended that the Criminal Code of Ukraine be amended to add a specific Article on Crimes Against Humanity so that Ukraine can satisfy the obligations it has undertaken to the International Criminal Court.

16 Under Article 115 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code, murder is defined as the “willful unlawful causing death of another person.”

17 The Nuremberg Tribunal held that if one murder is unlawful, then mass murder is also unlawful. Similarly, since Article 115 prohibits murder under Ukrainian law, then mass murder, or extermination, must also be unlawful under the current law of Ukraine.

18 Article 146 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code forbids the illegal confinement or abduction of a person. Similarly, Article 147 of the Code prohibits hostage taking which it defines as the “[t]aking or holding a person as a hostage with the intent to induce relatives of the hostage, any government agency or other institution, business or organization, any natural person or any official to make or refrain from any action as a condition for release of the hostage.” Additionally, Article 149 of the Code proscribes the trafficking in human beings or other illegal transfer deals with respect to a human being. It defines the trafficking of human beings as the “[s]ale, other transfer for payment or any other illegal deals with regard to a person, involving legal or illegal movement of that person, with or without his/her consent, across the border of Ukraine for further sale or other transfer to any person (or persons) for the purpose of sexual exploitation, use in pornobusiness, engagement in criminal activities, peonage, adoption for commercial purposes, use in armed conflicts, labor exploitation…”

19 Article 146 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code prohibits the illegal confinement or abduction of a person.

20 The Ukrainian Criminal Code forbids battery and torture in Article 126. It defines such conduct as “[i]ntended blows, battery or other violent acts which caused physical pain but no bodily injury.” Article 127 of the Code further proscribes torture, defining it as the “willful causing of severe physical pain or physical or mental suffering by way of battery, martyrizing or other violent actions for the purpose of inducing the victim or any other person to commit involuntary actions.”
7) Rape, sexual slavery, enforced prostitution, forced pregnancy, or any other form of sexual violence of comparable gravity;

8) Persecution against any identifiable group or collectivity on political, racial, national, ethnic, cultural, religious, gender or other grounds that are universally recognized as impermissible under international law, in connection with any act referred to in this paragraph or any crime within the jurisdiction of the Tribunal;

9) Enforced disappearance of persons; and

10) Other inhumane acts of a similar character intentionally causing great suffering, or serious injury to body or to mental or physical health.

ii. For the purposes of paragraph i):

1) “Attack directed against any civilian population” means a course of conduct involving the multiple commission of acts referred to in paragraph a) against any civilian population, pursuant to or in furtherance of a State or organizational policy to commit such attack;

2) “Extermination” includes the intentional infliction of conditions of life, such as the deprivation of access to food and medicine, calculated to bring about the destruction of part of a population;

3) “Enslavement” means the exercise of any or all of the powers attaching to the right of ownership over a person and includes the exercise of such power in the course of trafficking in persons, in particular women and children;

4) “Deportation or forcible transfer of population” means forced displacement of the persons concerned by expulsion or other coercive acts from the area in which they are lawfully present, without grounds permitted under international law;

21 Article 152 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code prohibits rape and defines it as “sexual intercourse combined with violence, threats of violence, or committed by taking advantage of the victim’s helpless condition.” The Code also outlaws the “violent unnatural gratification of sexual desire” in Article 153. It defines such conduct as the “[v]iolent unnatural gratification of sexual desire combined with physical violence, or threats of violence, or committed by taking advantage of the victim’s helpless condition.” Additionally, Article 154 proscribes “compulsion to sexual intercourse” which is defined as “compulsion of a female or male to natural or unnatural sexual intercourse by a person on whom such female or male is financially or officially dependent.” Article 155 of the Code further outlaws sexual intercourse with a sexually immature person.

22 Article 303 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code outlaws prostitution or the “compelling to and engaging in prostitution.” It defines such conduct as the provision of “sexual services for a fee by use of violence or threats of violence or destruction or endamgment of property, or by blackmail or deceit.”

23 The Ukrainian Criminal Code proscribes the illegal confinement or abduction of a person in Article 146. Similarly, in Article 147 the Code prohibits hostage taking. It defines such conduct as the “[t]aking or holding a person as a hostage with the intent to induce relatives of the hostage, any government agency or other institution, business or organization, any natural person or any official to make or refrain from any action as a condition for release of the hostage.” The Code also outlaws the trafficking in human beings or other illegal transfer deals with respect to a human being. Article 149 defines such conduct as the “[s]ale, other transfer for payment or any other illegal deals with regard to a person, involving legal or illegal movement of that person, with or without his/her consent, across the border of Ukraine for further sale or other transfer to any person (or persons) for the purpose of sexual exploitation, use in pornobusiness, engagement in criminal activities, peonage, adoption for commercial purposes, use in armed conflicts, labor exploitation.”
5) “Torture” means the intentional infliction of severe pain or suffering, whether physical or mental, upon a person in the custody or under the control of the accused; except that torture shall not include pain or suffering arising only from, inherent in or incidental to lawful sanctions;

6) “Persecution” means the intentional and severe deprivation of fundamental rights contrary to international law by reason of the identity of the group or collectivity; and

7) “Enforced disappearance of persons” means the arrest, detention or abduction of persons by, or with the authorization, support or acquiescence of, a State or a political organization, followed by a refusal to acknowledge that deprivation of freedom or to give information on the fate or whereabouts of those persons, with the intention of removing them from the protection of the law for a prolonged period of time.

c) – War Crimes

Article 438 of the Criminal Code of Ukraine on Violations of the Rule of the Warfare defines war crimes as consisting of “cruel treatment of prisoners of war or civilians, deportation of civilian population for forced labor, pillage of national treasures on occupied territories, use of methods of the warfare prohibited by international instruments, or any other violations of rules of the warfare recognized by international instruments consented to by binding by the Verkhovna Rada (Parliament) of Ukraine, and also giving an order to commit any such actions.”

For the purposes of Article 438 of the Criminal Code “methods of the warfare prohibited by international instruments, or any other violations of rules of the warfare recognized by international instruments consented to by binding by the Verkhovna Rada,” “war crimes” means:

i. Grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions of 12 August 1949, namely, any of the following acts against persons or property protected under the provisions of the relevant Geneva Convention:

1) Willful killing;

2) Torture or inhuman treatment, including biological experiments;

24 The definition of war crimes in this Law is based on Article 8, paragraph 2, of the ICC Statute. This includes both war crimes committed in an international armed conflict (Article 8, paragraphs 2 (a) and 2(b)) and war crimes committed in an armed conflict not of an international character (Article 8, paragraphs 2 (c), 2 (d), 2 (e) and 2 (f)).

25 Article 438 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code states: Cruel treatment of prisoners of war or civilians, deportation of civilian population for forced labor, pillage of national treasures on occupied territories, use of methods of the warfare prohibited by international instruments, or any other violations of rules of the warfare recognized by international instruments consented to by binding by the Verkhovna Rada (Parliament) of Ukraine, and also giving an order to commit any such actions, - shall be punishable by imprisonment for a term of eight to twelve years. 2. The same acts accompanied with a murder, - shall be punishable by imprisonment for a term of ten to fifteen years, or life imprisonment.

26 Article 127 of the Ukranian Criminal Code defines torture as a “willful causing of severe physical pain or physical or mental suffering by way of battery, martyrizing or other violent actions for the purpose of inducing the victim or any other person to commit involuntary actions.”
3) Willfully causing great suffering, or serious injury to body or health;
4) Extensive destruction and appropriation of property, not justified by military necessity and carried out unlawfully and wantonly;
5) Compelling a prisoner of war or other protected person to serve in the forces of a hostile power;

27 Article 121 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code defines intended grievous bodily injury as “a willful bodily injury which is dangerous to life at the time of infliction, or resulted in a loss of any organ or its functions, or caused a mental disease or any other health disorder attended with a persisting loss of not less than one-third of working capability, or interruption of pregnancy, or permanent disfigurement of face.”
28 Article 147 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code defines hostage taking as “[t]aking or holding a person as a hostage with the intent to induce relatives of the hostage, any government agency or other institution, business or organization, any natural person or any official to make or refrain from any action as a condition for release of the hostage.”
8) The transfer, directly or indirectly, by the occupying power of parts of its own civilian population into the territory it occupies, or the deportation or transfer of all or 31 Rape is defined as “sexual intercourse combined with violence, threats of violence, or committed by taking
