Our strategies are available only to qualified investors who have reviewed detailed information concerning investment terms and risks. These risks include, among others, the following:

- Performance can be volatile, and an investor could lose some or all of an investment.
- The strategy may use leverage.
- The investor does not retain any trading authority over assets placed with us.
- None of our strategies is intended, by itself, to provide an investor with an investment program that is diversified or otherwise tailored to suit any individual investor's overall investment needs.
- Investments may not be liquid or transferrable.
- Fees and expenses may offset trading profits.
- Maytech is subject to certain conflicts of interest.
