Are You Passionate About Tutoring Students In Math And Literacy?

The Learning Community, an innovative urban public school in Rhode Island, offers The Americorps Education Fellows Program, a one-year opportunity for those who seek professional experience in urban education and want to contribute to the lives of young learners.

Education Fellows will make a clear and targeted impact on cohorts of students and their dreams for the future.

The AmeriCorps Education Fellows Program enables enthusiastic, creative and dedicated individuals who are exploring careers in public education to fulfill meaningful roles in a dynamic urban school alongside experienced professional teachers and administrators. Fellows serve as academic tutors and get to see firsthand strategies in the classroom, at recess and during after school that will help close the achievement gap.

FINANCIAL AWARD:
Education Fellows receive a living stipend of $14,500, health insurance and a Segal AmeriCorps Education Award of $4,336.50 after completing their term of 1,200 hours.

TRAINING:
Education Fellows receive intensive ongoing professional development from practicing experts in education. Fellows attend 3-6 weeks of training before teaching small groups and 2-3 hours of training each month.

LEARN MORE:
thelearningcommunity.com/site/americorps
BEING A FELLOW
AmeriCorps Education Fellows join a welcoming, professional and dedicated team of educators. Each Education Fellow will be assigned cohorts of students with whom they work in small groups or in one-on-one tutorials throughout the academic year. This critical, hands-on academic support is informed by classroom teachers and our Academic Specialist Team.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT
Education Fellows have serious responsibilities and roles in the lives of students, so they receive extensive, ongoing professional development.

Education Fellows are trained to support students throughout the school day in both academic and non-academic settings.

Fellows meet weekly as a team to reflect on their practice and participate in workshops related to their growth as a young professional. In addition, Fellows have opportunities to learn about the management and growth of an innovative school and the many professional roles required to support students toward academic success.

LEARN MORE ABOUT OUR SCHOOL
thelearningcommunity.com

QUALIFICATIONS
We seek emerging educators who have:
• Strong interest in public education, schools and out-of-school-time learning
• Strong interest in social / emotional student growth and role of non-instructional time in the school day
• Strong desire to learn and grow as a professional
• Experience working with children and families
• Demonstrated leadership ability
• Excellent oral, written and organizational skills
• Flexible, curious and goal-oriented personality
• Sense of humor
• Willingness to work as part of a dynamic team
• Ability to take feedback and incorporate it quickly
• Spanish language skills a plus

Applicants must commit to an academic year of service beginning on August 10, 2020 through June 25, 2021, and must be a U.S. Citizen, U.S. National or permanent resident.

BENEFITS
AmeriCorps positions include extensive training, health coverage, a living stipend, child care allowance, student loan forbearance, and other benefits. Members will be eligible for an end-of-service education award of $4,336.50 upon completion of 1,200 hours of service. For more information about serving as an AmeriCorps Member please visit: americorps.gov

Applying online at: thelearningcommunity.com/site/americorps

For questions or to request more information, please email Wendy Interiano at: wendy@thelearningcommunity.com

No phone calls. The Learning Community is AA/EOE. Positions contingent on funding. All interviews are conducted in accessible locations. QTPOC encouraged to apply

The Learning Community Education Fellows Program is an AmeriCorps program funded by the Rhode Island Department of Education on behalf of the Rhode Island Commission for National and Community Service.

Please apply online at: thelearningcommunity.com/site/americorps

For questions or to request more information, please email Wendy Interiano at: wendy@thelearningcommunity.com

APPY TODAY!