

Julia Zhang

Short Biography

Julie Zhang is the Communications Director for Global Health Sim, a non-profit global health education organization. She graduated from the University of Toronto with an Honours Bachelor of Science in Global Health and in Peace, Conflict and Justice. Her public health interests lie in aging, human rights, and health equity, and she hopes to pursue these issues further when she begins her Master of Public Health in the fall.

Her past positions include research assistant for the U of T Department of Physical Therapy, Co-Director of the flagship REACH program with the University of Toronto International Health Program, Program Unit intern at Doctors Without Borders, and Youth Advisor to the Canadian Red Cross Toronto Region Council.