

Dr. Lawrence Loh

Short Biography

Dr. Lawrence C. Loh is Associate Medical Officer of Health at the Region of Peel – Public Health and Adjunct Professor at the Dalla Lana School of Public Health, but comes to this presentation through his work with The 53rd Week Ltd. The 53rd Week is a Brooklyn-based non-profit think-tank that aims to promote greater responsibility in volunteering abroad endeavours through research, partnerships, and advocacy, and over a decade and a half with the organization Dr. Loh has published and spoken widely on this topic at venues all over the world.

Dr. Loh completed undergraduate science and medical training at Western University and a residency in public health and preventive medicine at the University of Toronto, during which he finished family medicine training at St. Michael's Hospital and a Master of Public Health at Johns Hopkins.

He is an avid run commuter and lives in Toronto with his wife and two daughters.