

Jenny Isaacs

Short Biography

Jenny Isaacs is the Director of Heart to Heart. She has been engaged in community building and social justice education for over ten years. Through her involvement with Hashomer Hatzair, Jenny began her work with Heart to Heart in 2012. Jenny holds a BA from the University of Toronto in Diaspora and Transnational Studies as well as a Masters of Teaching from the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, at the University of Toronto.

In addition to her work with Heart to Heart, she is a teacher, and a co-organizer of Base, a pluralistic Beit Midrash in downtown Toronto. In 2016, Jenny received the Ve'ahavta Emerging Leader Tikun Olam Award for her work in Heart to Heart. She is currently the social justice Scholar-in-Residence of Darchei Noam Congregation. In October, 2017 she presented at the Empathy for Peace Conference in Italy.