

The Code Name Badass "I Spy A Spy" Quiz

“Demetrios tells this fascinating story in an uber-modern narrative voice that is snarky AF, LOL, with plenty of hits to the patriarchy and a glorious sense of celebrating Dindy’s badassery.

It’s breezy and lighthearted in tone but meticulously well-researched, including interviews with Dindy’s surviving family. A remarkable telling of an extraordinary woman.

- Kirkus

Think you've got what it takes to become a spy like Virginia Hall? Your mission, should you choose to accept it: Take the quiz below to see if you're ready for the life of a spook. Each question is multiple choice. Choose your answer and work through the ten questions. The answer key is at the end - no peeking! This is one time that being sneaky won't give you the answers you want.

1. If you are “brule” in the field, what does that mean?

- a. You are too sweet to be an operative: you let your target get away because you felt sorry for them.
- b. Your cover has been blown and the enemy knows who you are.
- c. You’ve served as an operative in France.
- d. You do sabotage, mostly pyrotechnics, for a mission.

2. Which one of these American agencies does NOT conduct clandestine operations?

- a. Department of the Treasury
- b. Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA)
- c. The Justice Department
- d. Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI)

3. Which famous person was NOT a spy in WWII?

- a. Roald Dahl
- b. Charlie Chaplin
- c. Julia Child
- d. Cary Grant

4. How many seconds does it take a WWII agent to reach the ground once she jumps out of a plane?

- a. 60
- b. 48
- c. 35
- d. 15

5. Who was the only female civilian in WWII to receive the Distinguished Service Cross?

- a. Eleanor Roosevelt
- b. Rosie the Riveter
- c. Hannah Arendt
- d. Virginia Hall

6. What is the most popular dead drop location?

- a. Train station locker
- b. A public park bench
- c. A public bathroom
- d. Under a garden gnome

Visit the BADASS portal for more spy fun: www.heatherdemetrios.com/badass

7. What was the most dangerous job for a spy in WWII?

- a. Double agent
- b. Wireless radio operator
- c. Demolitions expert
- d. Recruiter for local agents across enemy lines

8. Which vehicle is rarely used in surveillance?

- a. Motorcycle
- b. Bicycle
- c. Sports car
- d. SUV

9. Who was Wild Bill Donovan?

- a. Director of the OSS, the American WWII spy agency. The CIA didn't exist at the time.
- b. The man who broke Germany's Enigma code in WWII
- c. James Bond's nemesis in the little-known film, Bond on the Range
- d. CIA's hardest working spy, their "Moscow Mule," who was executed by the KGB in 1964

10. Which one of these "nicknames" was Virginia Hall NOT called by men who worked with, or knew of her, in the field?

- a. La Dame Qui Boite
- b. That Canadian Bitch
- c. Red Headed Witch
- d. A Cowardly Salad

Answer Key

Give yourself one point for each correct answer.

1: b 2: c 3: b. 4: d. 5: d. 6: c. 7: b. 8: c 9: a. 10: d

Hall. Virginia Hall (10 - 9 points): Get on those CIA job boards – you've got spy swagger! Read Code Name Badass to impress them with your "Dindy" knowledge - they love her at Langley.

Sydney Bristow (8 - 7 points): You just might be ready for your Alias. But if you read Code Name Badass, you can drop impressive terms like they're hot and explain how you'll be recruiting and leading assets in the field.

Susan Cooper (6 - 5 points): Spies come in all packages--they just might let you in. Read Code Name Badass to learn how Virginia Hall became a famous spy even though she didn't always seem to have what it takes. (And then watch Melissa McCarthy as Susan Cooper in Spy).

Mata Hari (4 - 3 points): You don't want to get accused of spying if you aren't actually a spy, so read Code Name Badass to make sure your tradecraft is up to snuff.

Harriet The Spy (2 or 1 points): Right now, you better stick to being a field operative in your own neighborhood. It's a good place to practice. Read Code Name Badass, then take this test again. Chances are, you'll ace it.

Carrie Mathison (0 points): You're a great armchair spy. Pick up Code Name Badass in the safety of your Homeland and live the spy life without ever having to learn how to stab or shoot people. Bonus: you won't accidentally fall in love with a sort-of terrorist and ugly cry in the hallways of Langley.