LA JOSIE
CAFÉ DE LA
Comunidad

a light/medium roast with candy bar notes of milk chocolate, caramel and nuts with a hint of stone fruit

The specialty-grade, limited production run is part of a Barajas’ vision to bring together socially conscious Mexican American businesses to support local and global communities, while showcasing the exceptional products of Mexico.

The single origin micro-lot is sourced from the southern sierras of Oaxaca, Mexico. The woman-owned “finca” is harvested by Antonia Fuentes and her family in a remote Zapotec community about 10 hours from Oaxaca City, which still feels the devastation of a 2017 earthquake. The altitude and unique, lush land produce an exceptionally rare coffee bean.

The 12-ounce bag of whole-bean coffee costs $18.
As part of the relief program, $1 from every bag of coffee sold will go back to the community to collectively benefit the entire town.

Enjoy at La Josie $5 per cup
