

All About Manners

The word manners can mean many things. It can mean using a napkin at the table, or saying "thank you!"

Manners can mean saying, "please" or "excuse me!"

Using your manners, or being polite is the same thing! Have you heard those words before? Being polite is when you are kind to others and use your manners.

This friend is being polite by holding the door open for his friend!

A very important manner is saying "excuse me!" You can say, "excuse me" if you need to talk to adults who are busy...

You can also raise your hand or tap adults on the shoulder! It is polite to wait and not interrupt people.

If you accidentally bump into someone, “excuse me” is the manner to use!

Having good manners can mean saying, “please” when you want something. Can you tell what this girl wants?

That's right! She wants the cookies but she has to say, “please!”

This girl wants the candy! What does she need to say?

PLEASE!

You can also say please when you need help! This boy said, "can you please help me get up?"

Saying, “thank you” is another very polite thing to do. You can say thank you when someone gives you a gift!

This boy is getting help by being pushed on the swing! He can say,
"thank you!"

Thank You!

You can say, "thank you" when someone shares with you!
This girl is sharing her ice cream cone!

These friends are sharing their toys!

They can say, "thank you for letting me share your toys!"

There are all kinds of ways to use your manners and be polite!

Great job using your manners!
