

Joshua Dalton recently graduated from the Royal College of Music where he studied with Lutsia Ibragimova, and is now studying with Janice Graham at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama on the Orchestral Artistry course in conjunction with the London Symphony Orchestra. He has played with many orchestras and performed in most of the UK's leading concert venues including leading in the Royal Albert Hall. His opera experience includes productions with Headfirst productions, Monne-Little Theatre and St Paul's opera. Josh has given several concerto performances and given other solo performances across the UK and Europe, including an unaccompanied performance in front of HRH Princess Anne.