

Raised in Gloucestershire, Sophie now negotiates a diverse schedule of solo and ensemble playing, historically informed performance and teaching in her home of London and in major venues across the UK.

Sophie studied both her Bachelors and Masters degrees at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama with the tutelage of Richard Lester, Pierre Doumenge and Tim Lowe, during which she was awarded the Waddell Prize, the Wolfson Award and the Lumb's Trust Award for exceptional performance.

Alongside freelancing, Sophie enjoys art, cooking and pub quizzes, and likes to wind down after rehearsals with a glass of chianti and a crossword.