Welcome to Canstruction Chicago’s first virtual can art exhibition benefiting the Greater Chicago Food Depository

Canstruction Chicago celebrates the 14th annual can art exhibition benefiting the Greater Chicago Food Depository (Food Depository). Eleven participating teams from local Chicago architecture, engineering, construction, and related firms participate to give back.

Canstruction, Inc. is an international nonprofit organization, founded in 1992 and headquartered in Atlanta, GA. Traditionally, teams around the world comprising architects, engineers, and construction professionals come together to design and build structures made entirely out of canned food. For this unique year, Chicago teams have instead designed virtual builds around the theme “Chicago’s CAN-Do Spirit” and raised much needed funds to support the Food Depository.
ABOUT GREATER CHICAGO FOOD DEPOSITORY
The Greater Chicago Food Depository, Chicago’s food bank, believes a healthy community starts with food. We are at the center of a network of more than 700 partner organizations and programs – food pantries, soup kitchens, shelters, mobile distributions and other partners – working to bring food, dignity and hope to our neighbors across Chicago and Cook County. The Food Depository addresses the root causes of hunger with job training, advocacy and other innovative solutions. We are a proud member of Feeding America – the national network of food banks. By working to help those most in need go from hungry to hopeful, we truly become a Greater Chicago. Learn more at chicagosfoodbank.org

Building amazing communities... one can at a time

One way we do this is by helping people who are hungry get access to nutritious food. Learn more about our commitment to building amazing communities at community.groupon.com
A LETTER FROM KATE MAEHR, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR + CEO OF THE GREATER CHICAGO FOOD DEPOSITORY

Across our community, countless families are facing a need unlike anything we’ve ever witnessed.

The economic fallout of COVID-19 has left many of our neighbors out of work and struggling to put food on the table for themselves and their families. They are turning to the Greater Chicago Food Depository and our network for help - some of them for the first time in their lives. Lately, the Food Depository’s network of food pantries and similar programs has, on average, served nearly 120 percent more people in need compared to January of this year. Sadly, the effects of this pandemic are far from over. We expect households throughout Chicago and Cook County to feel its impact for months and years to come. We also know it has and will continue to disproportionately impact our Black and Brown communities, which have long faced higher rates of poverty and food insecurity as a result of racial inequities.

What keeps me hopeful during these challenging times is generous support from people like you. From the bottom of my heart, I want to thank this year’s virtual Canstruction participants for your ability to adapt to this new normal and continuing to help your community amid crisis.

Although we can’t all be together in person to recognize our teams’ innovative and impressive designs, know that your efforts and care for families facing hunger is more vital than ever.

Together, we can provide not only food, but hope.

Sincerely,

Kate

The Pret Foundation

Since 2018, The Pret Foundation has proudly partnered up with Greater Chicago Food Depository and has donated over 190,000 pounds of food to help feed those in need.

Due to the COVID pandemic, we have made the difficult decision to permanently close our shops in Chicago. We are incredibly grateful for all our customers, our Team Members, and Greater Chicago Food Depository for giving us the opportunity to give back to the communities in Chicago. We hope to return to Chicago again one day.

In the meantime, during your future travels, you can still visit us in New York City, Washington DC, and Philadelphia. Thank you for being part of our Pret family, and we hope to see you again soon.

Description  Our sculpture pays tribute to “Chicago’s Can Do Spirit” by portraying the growth of the city over time. Chicago’s humble beginnings are expressed as Jean Baptiste Point du Sable and Kitihawa’s trading post, which is considered the founding of “modern” Chicago. Next is a tower from Ft. Dearborn which demarcates the expansion and permanence of the City. Finally, the White City’s Administration Building from the 1892 World’s Columbian Exposition announcing Chicago’s arrival on the world’s stage. The Ferris Wheel and Chicago Water Tower can be seen in the background representing the rebirth of Chicago. The last wall represents Chicago’s iconic architecture from our contemporary skyline, including the Crain’s Communication Building, Marina City, Willis Tower, and the Merchandise Mart. All of these rest elevated above the river level thanks to Chicago’s famously raised downtown street system. Between the two eras is a large, fluttering Chicago flag, the symbolic representation of our City and the events that define it.

Description Our sculpture represents the strength of the Chicago community coming together during these unprecedented times. Our sculpture stands for hope and harmony. The linked hands at the center symbolize a promise of unity and mutual support. The buildings in the background represent our vibrant and resilient city. We stand together for equality, inclusivity, and diversity. In these times of need the only path forward is the path we walk together... because together, we can.

Description  We Chicagoans have a lot of pride in our city. It isn’t the largest or the wealthiest, and certainly not the warmest, but there is no question that Chicago has grit! From the Great Chicago Fire to the current pandemic and protests, we have and will continue to pull through, stronger and more resilient. There is good reason for all of us to hold our heads up high. Our sculpture takes on this spirit - that of a determined city. A large masked head sits firm, with its chin up and eyes trained forward. Its colors are emblematic of the Chicago flag, represented by light blue skin and a white face mask with red stars. This object reflects all of us, resolute in stature and collective in spirit. As we carry these sentiments forward, through both good and challenging times, one thing will always remain clear: We CAN face anything, Chicago!

Description  The sophomore partnership of Leopardo, MILHOUSE, OKW Architects, and Milhouse Charities is “Bridging The Gap” to bring attention to the inequities that exist in our communities and the nation. The iconic Chicago bridges were constructed to connect our diverse neighborhoods and culture, but have been recently raised due to current unrest. There is work to be done to create equality and eradicate hunger. Together we CAN build awareness, engender unity, and inspire compassion in the fight against hunger. As CHANGEMAKERS we can BRIDGE THE GAP!

Description Our rendition of the Michael Jordan “Air Jordan” statue outside of the United Center is made up of almost 15,000 cans! Taking full advantage of the absence of gravity in this year’s competition, we decided to elevate our rendition of the statue, similar to how we often saw #23. Whether you liked him better in Space Jam, the Last Dance, or the six NBA titles he brought back to Chicago, we felt no one else could better represent Chicago’s “can do” attitude than MJ.

Description  Chicago is “The City of Broad Shoulders,” because of the grit and determination of its people. Bailey Edward, a small, women-owned business, honors the Can-Do Spirit of Chicago’s locally-owned shops with “Welcome to Chili-cago: Shop Local.” The individual chili cans in our can-structure rely on each other to stand tall, just as Chicagoans support each other by shopping locally, allowing our neighbors to build their dreams as we build ours. Our design features a variety of beans, including a vegetarian skyline. Just as a hearty, healthy chili relies on the strength of its individual ingredients, Chicago’s strength comes from the broad shoulders of our diverse, local business owners who create a vibrant community unlike any other.

Description Over the course of the Covid-19 pandemic, our city has seen an increase in need for the Greater Chicago Food Depository’s services. Now more than ever, it is critical to come together to support all of our neighbors who face food instability through this crisis. Seeing Chicago’s response to the pandemic, the raise of the Black Lives Matter movement, Pride, and other critical demonstrations happening in our home town, it is evident that Chicagoans are willing to prop each other up when it really matters; when all sides lean on each other, we CAN build something great!

CHICAGO BRIDGE OF UNITY

4,276 CANS

Description  Chicago is not just home to many of the world’s earliest skyscrapers—it’s also a city of bridges. The bridges of Chicago are undeniably one of the most recognizable landmarks of the city and rooted in its history of progress and resilience. These grand structures are a symbol of strength and represent Chicago’s CAN-Do-Spirit. The Chicago Bridge of Unity is a sculpture that symbolizes the strength of Chicagoans and their ability to persevere through tragedy and hardships, from rebuilding the city from ashes, fighting a global pandemic, and coming together in a fight to end racism and hate. In the sculpture, the four piers at each end are similar, but each has its characteristics that make them unique. Some have different colors, height, or brands of cans, but in the end, they are all piers. These piers represent the people of Chicago, and although we all look different, or come from different backgrounds, we are all still people. The bridge is in the closed position to bring the piers, or people, closer together, CLOSING THE GAP of the city’s current racial, economic, and political divide. The bridge is the strength of Chicago, or rather its spirit, which is built with the colors of the rainbow as a celebration of EQUALITY, UNITY, and STRENGTH.
