

Lady Of The Water

In the cold cold morning
Thought I heard you calling
In the half light just before the dawning of the day
Half awake and dreaming
When untapped thoughts were streaming
Thought I heard you telling me you'd take it all away

At the turn of midnight
In the burning firelight
Did I see your fragile figure dancing in the flame
Beyond the realms of reason
Untamed and out of season
Could you be the missing key that gives my need a name

Lady of the water
Lead me to hallowed ground
Lady of the water
Take me where I long to be found

My days are full of faces
Of racketeers and chasers
I'm praying for a drop of rain in a street that's full of sand
This city can undo you
Cut its teeth right through you
I'm looking for that open door and the grace of your hand

Lady of the water
Lead me to hallowed ground
Lady of the water
Take me where I long to be found

In the cold cold morning
Thought I heard you calling
In the half light just before the dawning of the day
Half awake and dreaming
When untapped thoughts were streaming
Thought I heard you telling me you'd take it all away

Lady of the water
Lead me to hallowed ground
Lady of the water
Take me where I long to be found
