THE UNSTOPPABULL

DANIEL BULL

A local legend, Daniel Bull is an Australian explorer and adventurer. He has become one of the youngest members of the Explorer Club and has been named a “young explorer” by the Explorers Club. His latest achievement was scaling Mount Everest in a record time of 24 hours and 43 minutes, becoming the first Australian to summit the peak in under 25 hours.

THE FAM"ILY

His father Martin also supports him by following his adventures with a GPS tracker and keeping him informed of weather forecasts. Daniel Bull is currently planning his next adventure, which he hopes will take him to the summit of Mount Kilimanjaro.

ALTIMET SICKNESS

One of the many dangers faced by this type of adventuring is to err in altitude sickness. Daniel had a close friend out in one of the highest reaches of Mount Kilimanjaro who had to be resuscitated after he began to show signs of altitude sickness. He was flown to base camp and then flown back to the safety of the air. So, how did he become such an adventure? According to Daniel, he was inspired by his father’s adventure stories and has been an adventure enthusiast ever since.

"Everything is impossible until someone does it!" - Daniel Bull

On 23rd May 2006, after surviving a day of the Death Doo, Daniel Bull completed a successful trip of the highest mountain in South America. On that day, he and his team made the ascent of Mount Aconcagua in Argentina, becoming the youngest person ever to summit the peak.

A WORLD RECORD AND AN AUSTRALIAN FIRST

This year, Daniel set a record by becoming the first Australian to climb the highest summit in South America, Mount Aconcagua. The climb was completed in just under 24 hours, breaking the previous record by 2 hours and 13 minutes.

THE RECORD - 13 SUMMITS
