SUMMIT CONCEPT NOTE

Think Tanks: Bridging the Great Divide with Ideas, Policy Innovations and Action

The 2019 Europe Think Tank Summit is taking place at a truly extraordinary historical moment in world history. It is important to take stock of the technological, political, economic and organizational trends and disruptions that are taking place all around us. It is critical that we assess the current political climate and the daunting domestic and foreign policy challenges facing Europe in a world that is fiercely competitive and rife with conflict. The new reality is that most advanced industrialized democracies are crippled by political polarization, the fragmentation of political parties and a public that is lost in a sea of insecurity and understandably full of distrust and discontent. The electorate is searching for leadership and solutions to the problems they face on a daily basis. Although a bleak picture, a tremendous opportunity emerges for think tanks that has the potential to challenge conventional wisdom, develop creative and innovative solutions to complex policy problems and bridge the great divide between policy makers and the public. Think tanks have the potential to serve as an engine for answers, innovation and change. The Summit is designed to demonstrate the promise and potential of think tanks to help prepare our countries for the future and bridge the great divide that exists in our societies today.

Think tanks play a critical role in analyzing, developing and promoting policy solutions, particularly in times of extreme disruption and change. However, these organizations now operate in information-rich societies where facts, evidence and credible research are often ignored — and where disinformation can gain a footing. To remain relevant and impactful, think tanks and policy institutes must simultaneously pursue rigor, innovation, accessibility and accountability more than ever before. In short, think tanks must adapt and innovate by transforming their organization to be smarter, better, faster and more mobile. As such, the Summit will explore not only the ways in which think tanks are currently making a difference and finding solutions to contemporary policy challenges, but also how they can become increasingly relevant in these tumultuous times. To that end, in addition to these pressing contemporary policy challenges, the Summit will also focus on sharing the best practices for raising funds, recruiting key staff, harnessing new and innovative technologies and responding to increased public scrutiny and discontent.

The Summit will feature keynote speakers and panels of thought leaders. They will present a range of strategies and best practices for transforming public policy and institutions in an era of digital and political disruptions, as well as increased social and economic turbulence. There will also be a series of breakout groups that will explore these issues in greater detail. Finally, a closing keynote, plenary and round table discussion and debates will attempt to draw some meaningful conclusions for future policy work and strategies that will help think tanks respond to the new and challenging operating environment.

7TH ANNUAL EUROPEAN THINK TANK SUMMIT PROGRAM

MADRID, SPAIN | APRIL 10-12, 2019

WHAT IS THE ROLE OF THINK TANKS IN THE FUTURE OF EUROPE?

Hosted by: Elcano Royal Institute, Fundación Alternativas, Think Tanks and Civil Societies Program - University of Pennsylvania

In collaboration with: Barcelona Centre for International Affairs (CIDOB)

10 APRIL

Venue: Palacio de Viana, Calle Duque de Rivas, 1 (Madrid)

18:45 – 19:00

Registration

19:00 – 19:15

Welcoming Remarks:

Charles Powell, Director, Elcano Royal Institute (Spain)

Diego López Garrido, Executive Vice President, Fundación Alternativas (Spain)

Pol Morillas, Director, Barcelona Centre for International Affairs, CIDOB (Spain)

James G. McGann, Director, Think Tank and Civil Societies Program, The Lauder Institute, University of Pennsylvania (United States)

Opening Session European Think Tank's President's Panel: "Europe at a Crossroads: Think Tanks A Catalyst for Change, Consensus and Cohesion"

These are truly extraordinary times for Europe, NATO and EU. The post WWII economic, political and security order are being challenged and redefined by national, regional and tectonic shifts in domestic and international politics. While we cannot predict the outcome we now have a clearer sense of the issues that will shape the future. The European Elections take place in a few weeks, NATO marks its 70th Anniversary and the Brexit impasse continues to send shock waves throughout Europe and the world. A panel of think tank presidents from across Europe will explore the current political disruptions and the issues, institutions, people and politics that will shape Europe's future. The senior executives will also discuss how their institutions are responding to the fundamental shifts in alliances, politics and public policy.

Chair: James G. McGann, Senior Lecturer, International Studies, Lauder Institute and Director, Think Tanks and Civil Societies Program, University of Pennsylvania

Panelists:

Joaquin Almunia, Chairperson, Center for European Policy Studies (Belgium)

Tarmo Jüristo, Chairman of the Board, Praxis Centre for Policy Studies (Estonia)

Monika Sie Dhian Ho, General Director, Clingendael Institute (Netherlands)

Måns Nilsson, Executive Director, Stockholm Environment Institute (Sweden)

Roland Schmidt, Secretary General, Friedrich Ebert Foundation (Germany)

Robert Vass, President, GLOBSEC (Slovakia)

21:00 – 22:30

Summit Dinner

‘Turbulent times at home, turbulent times abroad. The EU and its existential dilemmas’

Hosted by Josep Borrell, Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, European Union and Cooperation.

11 APRIL

Venue: Hotel Catalonia, Gran Vía, 9 (Madrid)

8:00 – 9:00

Breakfast Round Table Discussion: Quality, Independence, Integrity in the Age of Transparency and Info-Wars

Think tanks play a critical role in analysing, developing, and promoting policy solutions, particularly in times of extreme disruption and change. However, these organizations now operate in information-rich societies where facts, evidence, and credible research are often ignored — and where “alternative facts” and “fake news” can gain a footing. In the face of these challenges some scholars have been forced to engage in self-censorship to protect themselves and their families. To remain relevant and impactful, think tanks and policy institutes must simultaneously pursue rigor, innovation, accessibility, and accountability more than ever before. The panel will explore these complex issues and discuss some possible approaches to address them.

Round Table Chair:

Monika Sie Dhian Ho, General Director, Clingendael Institute (Netherlands)

Venue: Fundación Telefónica, Calle de Fuencarral, 3 – 2nd floor (Madrid)

8:30 – 9:15

Registration

9:30 – 10:15

Welcoming remarks:

Emilio Lamo de Espinosa, Chairman, Elcano Royal Institute (Spain)

Diego López Garrido, Executive Vice President, Fundación Alternativas (Spain)

James G. McGann, Director, Think Tank and Civil Societies Program, The Lauder Institute, University of Pennsylvania (United States)

Carmen Morenés, Director General, Fundación Telefónica (Spain)

Keynote speech: Cristina Gallach, High Commissioner for the 2030 Agenda, Presidency of the Government

10:15 – 11:30

Plenary (First Session): Europe, AI and the Technological Revolution

The 4th Industrial Revolution is a game-changer. While it is similar to the industrial transformations of the past, it will be fundamentally different. Artificial Intelligence (AI) will create massive, creative and destructive disruptions that will reverberate in the years to come. Therefore, it is essential that we understand AI and prepare both for the opportunities and the challenges it poses. The new reality is that AI accelerates the speed of change, increasing the velocity of information and policy flows in business, politics, and society. AI can enable humans to work smarter, faster and better than ever before, but it can also create major disruptions and dislocations in society. The Panel will explore the impact on the economy, society and governance in Europe.

Chair: Róbert Vass, President, GLOBSEC (Slovakia)

Panelists:

Marjorie Buchser, Head of Innovation Partnerships and Digital Society Initiative, Chatham House (United Kingdom)

Paul Copping, Vice President Corporate Development at Sightline Innovation Inc (Canada)

Bruno Estrada, Fundación Alternativas (Spain)

Kristian Fischer, Director, Danish Institute for International Studies (Denmark)

11:30 – 11:45

Coffee Break

11:45 – 13:00

Breakout Policy and Organizational Challenges Sessions

Breakout A: Trade Winds or Trade Wars: Which Way is the Wind Blowing?

The lingering effects of the 2008 economic crisis and the blowback from the uneven and unfulfilled promise of globalization has helped give rise to populism, nativism and protectionist sentiments in many countries. The costs of free trade -- closed factories, unemployed workers and the effect it has on local economies and communities -- are easy to see. Less obvious are the benefits in lower prices, higher quality goods, more choices and a better standard of living. The uneven distribution of these benefits of the liberal economic order and free trade are raising questions about the fairness and viability of the free and fair trade around the world. The prospects of a trade war between the US and China, Europe and the US has served to intensify these debates. With this backdrop in mind, the panel will explore the current trade environment; the impact of trade disputes will impact growth and the global economy.

Chair: Federico Steinberg, Senior Analyst, Elcano Royal Institute (Spain)

Panelists:

Elvire Fabry, Senior Research Fellow, Jacques Delors Institute (France)

Inês Gonçalves Raposo, Affiliate Fellow, Bruegel (Belgium)

Sándor Gyula Nagy, Deputy Director for Research, Institute for Foreign Affairs and Trade (Hungary)

Dong Wang, Secretary General, Pangoal Institute and Deputy Executive Director, School of International Studies, Institute for China-US People to People Exchange Peking University and the Pangoal Institute (China)

Duncan Wood, Director, Mexico Institute, Wilson Center (United States)

Breakout B: Trends and Transitions in Climate Change: Alternative Policies, Paradigms and Public Engagements

Climate change poses some of the most pressing and intractable problems confronting policymakers and the public today. As the effects of climate change grow, the cost increase and the policy choices narrow a critical examination of alternative policies, paradigms and public engagement strategies is required. There is an urgent need for innovative policies and strategies that can mobilize support from a range of political constituencies and provide creative integrated strategies that address climate adaptation, mitigation, and sustainable development. A panel of senior thought leaders and executives from the leading think tanks working on this issue will discuss and propose new and innovative ways to address this clear and present danger.

Chair: Robert Watt, Director of Communications, Stockholm Environment Institute (Sweden)

Panelists:

Lara Lázaro Touza, Senior Analyst, Elcano Royal Institute (Spain)

Álvaro Rodríguez, Fundación Alternativas (Spain)

Camilla Bausch, Scientific and Executive Director, Ecologic Institute (Germany)

Sébastien Treyer, Executive Director, IDDRI (France)

13:15 – 14:30

Luncheon Panel: Diversity, Innovation, and Impact: The Future of Think Tanks and Policy Advice Featuring the Next Generation of think tank scholars and executives

Both business and anthropological literature have shown strong correlations between organizational innovation and diversity. The Panel will feature young scholars and think tank executives who will discuss the importance of diversity in their organizations and emphasize the important connection between diversity and innovation. The panelists have been asked to address the following questions: why did you choose to work at a think tank?; what obstacles did you encounter in the hiring process and advancing your career at a think tank?; what perspectives on policy and organization innovation do you bring to your think tank and the issues facing your country; and what specific recommendations would you suggest to improve the role and impact of think tanks? Finally, and most importantly, what recommendations would you make to improve the careers of ethnic and racial groups, women, young scholars and executives?

Chair: Pol Morillas, Director General and Senior Research Fellow, Barcelona Centre for International Affairs (CIDOB) (Spain)

Panelists:

Lisa O'Daly, Human Resources Director, Chatham House (United Kingdom)

Anas El Gomati, Founder, General Director, Research Director, Sadeq Institute (Libya)

Kristina Kausch, Senior Resident Fellow, The German Marshall Fund of the United States (United States/Spain)

Charles de Marcilly, Adviser, European Political Strategy Centre, European Commission (European Union)

Matti Pesu, Research Fellow, Finnish Institute of International Affairs (Finland)

14:30 – 15:45

Plenary (Second Session): What Is the New European Narrative? Post-Brexit and European Elections

In May 2019 elections for European Parliament will take place. This will be an important milestone that will mark enduring legacy of the European Experiment. This is overshadowed by the rising tide of public discontent. This is however, not a time to rest on our laurels or wallow in nihilism, nationalism and nativism but to create a new and bold future course for Europe. To be successful Europe will have to grapple with the current challenges facing the EU, including the continuing Brexit crisis, the need to institute fundamental reforms while finding ways to deepen European integration and make it more open and response to the 500 million citizens it serves. Some may view this a daunting task but it is precisely the moment when leaders and bold ideas are born. A panel thought leaders from across Europe will explore the challenges and provide some of the core elements of a new narrative for Europe.

Chair: Cecilie Felicia Stokholm Banke, Research Coordinator, Senior Researcher, Foreign Policy, Danish Institute for International Studies (Denmark)

Panelists:

Jakov Devčić, Team Head, Foreign, Security and European Policy, Konrad Adenauer Foundation (Germany)

Charles de Marcilly, Adviser, European Political Strategy Centre, European Commission (European Union)

Thomas Raines, Head, Europe Programme, Chatham House (United Kingdom)

Paul Schmidt, Secretary General, Austrian Society for European Politics (Austria)

15:45 – 16:15

Coffee Break

16:15 – 17:30

Plenary (Third Session): The Risks and Rewards of New World Reorder

Consciously or inadvertently, the new world order is taking place. Alliances are shifting, conflict and mass migration of people is continuing, and sustained economic and development is remaining elusive. The 2019 European Think Tank Summit is taking place at a truly extraordinary historical moment world politics. The post WWII economic, political and security orders are being challenged and redefined by national and regional tectonic shifts in domestic and international politics. The panel will discuss these changes and suggest ways that think tanks can help policy makers and the public respond to both the challenges and opportunities they present.

Chair: Thomas Gomart, Director, French Institute for International Relations, IFRI (France)

Panelists:

Valerii Garbuzov, Director, Institute for US and Canadian Studies (Russia)

Tereza Barbora Kupkova, Project Coordinator, Prague Security Studies Institute (Czech Republic)

Kristina Kausch, Senior Resident Fellow, German Marshall Fund of the United States (GMF) (United States and Spain)

Karel Lannoo, Chief Executive, Center for European Policy Studies (CEPS), (Belgium)

Paolo Magri, Vice President, Italian Institute for International Political Studies (Italy)

Fabrizio Tassinari, Executive Director of the School of Transnational Governance, European University Institute (Italy)

9:30 – 10:30

Breakout Policy and Organizational Challenges sessions

Breakout C: Migration and Global Refugee Crisis Waves, Walls or Workable Solutions

The irregular migration continues to be a potent political challenge that does not lend itself to easy solutions and is likely to grow if the predicted economic slowdown is realized. The refugee crisis is creating deep divisions in the EU over how best to deal with resettling those fleeing war, famine, political instability and economic hardship in face of rising nationalism and populism. The wave of irregular immigration has slowed but the challenge remains. The Break Out Session will explore how think tanks are helping to both understand and develop workable and humane solutions to this global issue.

Chair: Charles Powell, Director, Elcano Royal Institute (Spain)

Panelists:

Benedict Göbel, Coordinator of Integration Policy, Konrad Adenauer Foundation (Germany)

Blanca Garcés-Mascareñas, Senior Research Fellow and Research Coordinator, Barcelona Centre for International Affairs (CIDOB) (Spain)

Mehdi Benomar, Lead International Relations Specialist, Policy Center for the New South FNA OCP Policy Center (Morocco)

Viera Žúborová, Executive Director, Bratislava Policy Institute, Bratislava (Slovakia)

Breakout D: Harnessing Technology To Enhance Research and Engage Policymakers and the Public

The popularization of new media has created a massive untapped pool of resources for knowledge to be shared with new and a wider audience. However, the unchecked nature of new media also results in a lack of quality control and oversaturation of content for readers to filter through. In addition, GDPR regime in Europe can be a challenge to taking best advantage of these new opportunities. In an age of shorter attention spans and the paradox of choice, think tanks must navigate these waters to retain their appeal to changing demographics. This session aims to identify best practices for optimizing the use of new media, social networking and other platforms for marketing and public engagement, as well as examining which platforms we are all using to the greatest impact. More specifically, how can think tanks creatively harness these new tools beyond standard marketing purposes while being discerning about the quality, effectiveness of various platforms, and how they align with think tank's mission to inform policymakers and the public about key policy issues.

10:45 – 12:00

Plenary (Fourth Session): Providing Solutions Not Sound Bites in an Age of Economic Insecurity and Inequity

In the aftermath of the economic crisis of 2008 the growing shrinking middle class and growing inequity has come into focus and given rise to the populist movements in the US and Europe. The new reality is that most advanced industrialized democracies are crippled by political polarization, the fragmentation of political parties and a public that is lost in a sea of insecurity and understandably full of distrust and discontent. Think tanks are uniquely positioned to help provide sound analysis and advice on how to address the economic insecurity that many people face today. The Panel will discuss the problem and how policymakers might address it with sound policies, not sound bites.

12:00 – 13:15

Plenary (Fifth Session): NATO at 70th and the Future of Security Alliances

In April, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will mark its 70th anniversary. It is the world's oldest and most successful military alliance of democratic nations in the world. Despite its success, NATO faces serious and complex challenges to its purpose, unity, and even its existence. A Panel of scholars and

BACKGROUND ON THE THINK TANKS AND CIVIL SOCIETIES PROGRAM

Think Tanks and Civil Societies Program

The Think Tanks and Civil Societies Program (TTCSP) of the Lauder Institute at the University of Pennsylvania conducts research on the role policy institutes play in governments and civil societies around the world. Often referred to as the “think tanks’ think tank,” TTCSP examines the evolving role and character of public policy research organizations. Over the last 30 years, the TTCSP has developed and led a series of global initiatives that have helped bridge the gap between knowledge and policy in critical policy areas such as international peace and security, globalization and governance, international economics, environmental issues, information and society, poverty alleviation, and healthcare and global health. These international collaborative efforts are designed to establish regional and international networks of policy institutes and communities that improve policy making while strengthening democratic institutions and civil societies around the world.

The TTCSP works with leading scholars and practitioners from think tanks and universities in a variety of collaborative efforts and programs and produces the annual Global Go To Think Tank Index that ranks the world’s leading think tanks in a variety of categories. This is achieved with the help of a panel of over 1,900 peer institutions and experts from the print and electronic media, academia, public and private donor institutions, and governments around the world. We have strong relationships with leading think tanks around the world, and our annual Think Tank Index is used by academics, journalists, donors and the public to locate and connect with the leading centers of public policy research around the world. Our goal is to increase the profile and performance of think tanks and raise the public awareness of the important role think tanks play in governments and civil societies around the globe.

Since its inception in 1989, the TTCSP has focused on collecting data and conducting research on think tank trends and the role think tanks play as civil society actors in the policy-making process. To date TTCSP has provided technical assistance and capacity building programs in 81 countries. We are now working to create regional and global networks of think tanks in an effort to facilitate collaboration and the production of a modest yet achievable set of global public goods. Our goal is to create lasting institutional and state-level partnerships by engaging and mobilizing think tanks that have demonstrated their ability to produce high quality policy research and shape popular and elite opinion and actions for public good.

The Lauder Institute of Management and International Studies

The Lauder Institute of Management and International Studies offers an M.A. in international studies and conducts fundamental and policy-oriented research on current economic, political, and business issues. It organizes an annual conference that brings academics, practitioners, and policy makers together to examine global challenges such as financial risks, sustainability, inequality, and the future of the state.

University of Pennsylvania

The University of Pennsylvania (Penn) is an Ivy League school with highly selective admissions and a history of innovation in interdisciplinary education and scholarship. Its peer institutions are Harvard, Stanford, Columbia, Brown, Dartmouth, and the University of Chicago in the US and Oxford and Cambridge in the UK. A world-class research institution, Penn boasts a picturesque campus in the middle of Philadelphia, a dynamic city that is conveniently located between Washington, D.C. and New York, New York the University of Pennsylvania was founded by Benjamin Franklin in 1740 to push the frontiers of knowledge and benefit society by integrating study in the liberal arts and sciences with opportunities for research and practical, pre-professional training at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Penn is committed to meeting the full demonstrated need of all undergraduates with grant-based financial aid, making this intellectually compelling integration of liberal and professional education accessible to talented students of all backgrounds and empowering them to make an impact on the world.

A 2019 Europe Think Tank Summit Report will be produced at the conclusion of the Summit and will be circulated to all the participants, the 8000 TTCSP global network of think tanks and posted on the Scholarly Commons site at the University of Pennsylvania free of charge. We want to thank the Center for International Governance Innovation whose support, in part, makes the drafting, editing, production and distribution of the Europe Summit Report possible.
