• HOPE •

Hope is the potter's virtue.

From hope to opening the kiln and back to the hope before the next firing.

During each firing only hope gives courage and the unfulfilled visions are what brings us back to reality and teaches us to find hope again.

Again and again.

2 Now, while suddenly the whole world holds its breath in helplessness and hopes for next month, next fall to be finally able to travel and meet each other again and share our sympathy and joy from face to face it is just this virtue that is demanded.

It is despair which leads to hope and it requires examining eyes to find the balance between both and the courage to keep on.

Nice that one can hope!

• HOFFNUNG •

Die Tugend eines Töpfers ist die Hoffnung.

Von der Hoffnung zum Öffnen des Ofens und wieder zurück zu der Hoffnung vor dem nächsten Brand.

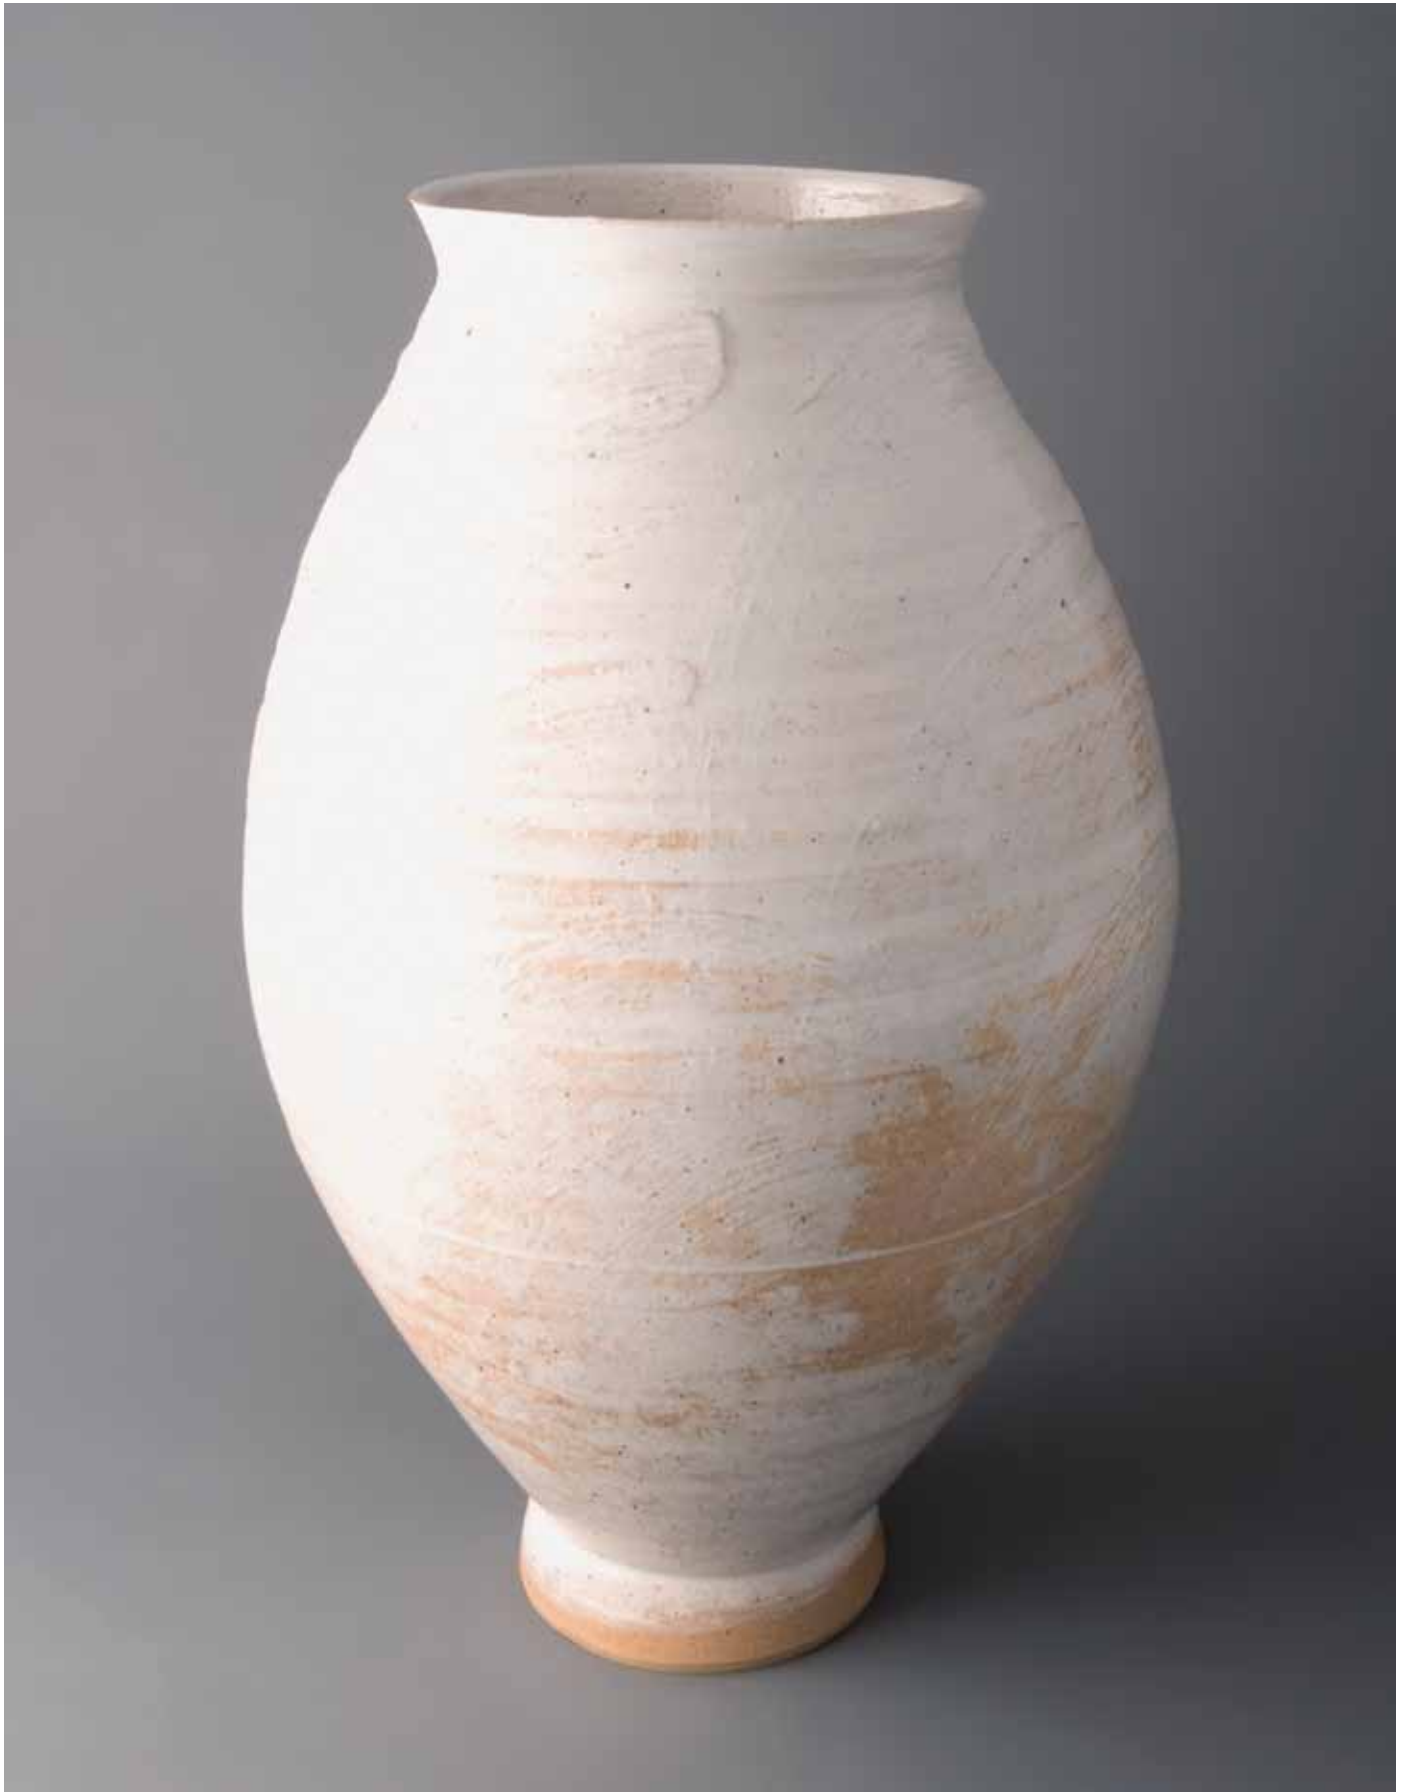

Bei jedem Brand ist die Hoffnung das einzige was Mut macht, die unerfüllten Vorstellungen das was uns wieder zur Realität bringt und uns lehrt wieder zu hoffen. Immer und immer wieder.

Jetzt wo plötzlich die ganze Welt in Hilflosigkeit den Atem anhält und hofft, nächsten Monat, nächsten Herbst endlich wieder reisen und sich treffen zu können und von Angesicht zu Angesicht unsere Sympathie und Freude zu teilen wird von uns genau diese Tugend verlangt.

Verzweiflung ist es, was zur Hoffnung führt und es braucht prüfende Augen um die Balance dazwischen und den Mut zu finden, immer weiter zu machen.

Schön, dass man hoffen darf!
