The Black Social Economy in the Americas

Exploring Diverse Community-Based Markets

Series: Perspectives from Social Economics

--Provides the first ever in-depth exploration of the Black social economy

--Features case studies from Latin America, the Caribbean, and North America

--Explores the means through which Black communities have formed alternative socio-economic communities

This pioneering book explores the meaning of the term “Black social economy,” a self-help sector that remains autonomous from the state and business sectors. With the Western Hemisphere’s ignoble history of enslavement and violence towards African peoples, and the strong anti-black racism that still pervades society, the African diaspora in the Americas has turned to alternative practices of socio-economic organization. Conscientious and collective organizing is thus a means of creating meaningful livelihoods. In this volume, fourteen scholars explore the concept of the “Black social economy,” bringing together innovative research on the lived experience of Afro-descendants in business and society in Argentina, Brazil, Canada, Colombia, Guyana, Haiti, Jamaica, and the United States. The case studies in this book feature horrific legacies of enslavement, colonization, and racism, and they recount the myriad ways that persons of African heritage have built humane alternatives to the dominant market economy that excludes them. Together, they shed necessary light on the ways in which the Black race has been overlooked in the social economy literature.

“This landmark book shows that the diversity of Black communities is mirrored in a diversity of innovations around social economy strategies and practices. It offers an important and well overdue corrective to understandings of the social economy.”

—J.K. Gibson-Graham, Western Sydney University, Australia

“Another ‘Black Atlantic’, this book takes us into the world of the African diaspora’s historical and contemporary community-based market economies to theorize eloquently about social economy.”

—Amal Madibbo, University of Calgary, Canada
