

High-Level Due Diligence Process Decision Tree

This is a general guide on the actions and critical questions that a fabric mill should ask to determine if additional due diligence is required to address any risks in its supply chain. The pyramid overlay is intended to depict how (1) the number of supply chains that require due diligence decrease as more advanced due diligence is conducted (gold inverted pyramid), and (2) the importance of local context, stakeholder input, and partnerships increases as due diligence intensifies (blue pyramid).