

Looking for other glasses to view and better understand the dynamics of your strategy or organization?

On January 24th and 25th we offer the opportunity to acquaint yourself with systemic constellations – a different and powerful method of exploring the inner life of organisations.

In Silkeborg you will have the opportunity to join our workshops to deepen and widen your understanding of working this way.

You are welcome as a client, with a business case of your own to explore. You may also join if you are interested in the method and willing to join in exploring and learning from other business matters in a confidential set-up.

During the workshop we will provide a short intro to the concept of systemic work for those new to it, and we will work with 2-3 business cases both days.

Eksternal clients working on an issue are invited to contribute with DKK 2.500 plus VAT.

COBRAS consists of systemic constellation facilitators from Copenhagen, Brussels, Bratislava, Barcelona, Amsterdam and Stockholm, who met while training in this method for Jan Jacob Stam from the Bert Hellinger Instituut in the Netherlands. We hold regular meetings in our home towns which external clients are invited to attend.

Our purpose is to contribute to a more conscious society and economy through an innovative holistic approach of organisational systemic dynamics.
