SIGNIFICANCE
19. Briefly state historical and/or architectural importance (include dates, events, and persons associated with the site.)

While this house is extremely modest architecturally, it is one of only a few remaining brick cottages in the area.

One of the two remaining 19th century brick residences in Healdsburg, this house was built in 1884 by brick mason William Burgett. William and his brother came from the east by railroad to make their fortunes. After they had established themselves they sent East for a brick kiln to be shipped around the horn. They established a brickyard at the north end of University Street. William's son's later joined the enterprise and it prospered for many year. This house was built from bricks from William's brickyard.
