SIGNIFICANCE

19. Briefly state historical and/or architectural importance (include dates, events, and persons associated with the site.)

This is a particularly nice example of a carpenter built house using stock decorative millwork.

Built by one of Healdsburg's most prominent pioneers, Ransom Powell, this residence represents a prestigious structure of a later era, constructed in a popular suburb in 1892. Born in Tennessee in 1824, Powell came to the California mines in 1849 and to Healdsburg in 1856 where he opened a pioneer grocery. Powell eventually became the largest landowner in Northern Sonoma County, after switching to a career in real estate in 1860. There were two Healdsburg streets named after Powell, and before he died in 1910 he had helped organize the Farmer's and Mechanics Bank, served a long term as city trustee, owned several businesses and had survived five wives. Powell had this home built in 1892 and it was lived in by his sixth wife and widow, Louise Madiera Powell.

This structure has recently undergone restoration.
