SIGNIFICANCE

19. Briefly state historical and/or architectural importance (include dates, events, and persons associated with the site.)

Built for Robert Moore in March 1910, this building served as the most popular cafe in Healdsburg, and the only business besides a laundry owned and operated by a Chinese-American before War II. Jim Chun ran the "New Louvre" Restaurant from 1909 to about 1920. In the 1920's the Restaurant was continued under the name "Redwood Cafe" and was run by Michael Serafin, continuing its service as a restaurant and local gathering place until the 1950's. This building is currently being restored by the owner. Although altered, this building is one of only a few relatively intact commercial buildings of this era.
