

THE PEOPLE'S SUPPER

For millennia, sharing a meal has stood as one of the things that all of us -- whoever we are and wherever we come from -- have in common. We're out to prove that a group of thoughtful people -- no matter their politics, race, religion, and generation -- can sit down over a shared meal, go beneath the headlines, and understand the real stories that have shaped who we are.

Together, we aim to create healing spaces that strengthen our individual and collective resilience and wellbeing, and to repair the breach in our interpersonal relationships across political, ideological, and identity differences. And we're doing it in the most nourishing way we know -- over supper.

GRAB A SEAT

www.thepeoplesupper.org

 @peoplesupper  @peoplesupper  /peoplesupper

THE PEOPLE'S SUPPER

For millennia, sharing a meal has stood as one of the things that all of us -- whoever we are and wherever we come from -- have in common. We're out to prove that a group of thoughtful people -- no matter their politics, race, religion, and generation -- can sit down over a shared meal, go beneath the headlines, and understand the real stories that have shaped who we are.

Together, we aim to create healing spaces that strengthen our individual and collective resilience and wellbeing, and to repair the breach in our interpersonal relationships across political, ideological, and identity differences. And we're doing it in the most nourishing way we know -- over supper.

GRAB A SEAT

www.thepeoplesupper.org

 @peoplesupper  @peoplesupper  /peoplesupper

THE PEOPLE'S SUPPER

For millennia, sharing a meal has stood as one of the things that all of us -- whoever we are and wherever we come from -- have in common. We're out to prove that a group of thoughtful people -- no matter their politics, race, religion, and generation -- can sit down over a shared meal, go beneath the headlines, and understand the real stories that have shaped who we are.

Together, we aim to create healing spaces that strengthen our individual and collective resilience and wellbeing, and to repair the breach in our interpersonal relationships across political, ideological, and identity differences. And we're doing it in the most nourishing way we know -- over supper.

GRAB A SEAT

www.thepeoplesupper.org

 @peoplesupper  @peoplesupper  /peoplesupper

THE PEOPLE'S SUPPER

For millennia, sharing a meal has stood as one of the things that all of us -- whoever we are and wherever we come from -- have in common. We're out to prove that a group of thoughtful people -- no matter their politics, race, religion, and generation -- can sit down over a shared meal, go beneath the headlines, and understand the real stories that have shaped who we are.

Together, we aim to create healing spaces that strengthen our individual and collective resilience and wellbeing, and to repair the breach in our interpersonal relationships across political, ideological, and identity differences. And we're doing it in the most nourishing way we know -- over supper.

GRAB A SEAT

www.thepeoplesupper.org

 @peoplesupper  @peoplesupper  /peoplesupper