ANNUAL SUMMARY

During the FY 2020 CMP and the world around us has changed. On January 23rd, 2020, CMP’s HQ suffered a devastating fire and on March 16th, we were ordered to shelter in place. NYC schools closed. Clients lost jobs. One thing remained constant, CMP’s unwavering support and assistance to the community.

After the fire, through the support of community partners, CMP secured short-term temporary space for offices and classrooms. With the pandemic, each and every one of our program services, that were able to, has moved to a virtual platform with remote delivery to our clients.

We pivoted services to help clients with income security, such as applying for unemployment assistance, or with business continuity services, such as applying for Paycheck Protection Program.

Throughout the year, CMP served just over 4,000 clients, added new Board members, and conducted advocacy for our community.

The year 2020 was not without challenges. Out of these challenges, CMP found opportunities to serve our clients and the community. The fire and covid allowed us the privilege of helping more community members with income security as individuals and business owners.

CMP provided vital services, including core programs and income security programs during this year. Staff helped individuals obtain unemployment insurance and helped businesses obtain loans and grants. Our classes allowed individuals to keep connected and feel less isolated.

Asset Building

CMP provides new immigrants and first time job seekers, including young adults, necessary tools and opportunities to enhance their employability and engagement in the workforce.
The Asset Building programs provided 1,265 individuals with literacy, workforce training and internship opportunities.

Highlight on Asset Building

Against the statewide shutdown background, any in-person work experience opportunity looked slim since late March this year, and the internship for our FY 19-20 Cycle graduates was in jeopardy. Miracle took place when DYCD started partnering with NYC 2020 Census in May, and this creative initiative brought the internship back from the brink. Guided by May Lo, our capable internship specialist, twenty-two of our Cycle 2 graduates took advantage of the rare work experience opportunity and worked on the NYC 2020 Census community outreach project, calling residents in all five boroughs to remind of and help them with their 2020 Census Questionnaire. Our participants worked 25 hours per week for 6 weeks, for a total of 3,255 hours—each participant logging an average of 148 hours out of the 150 maximum allowable hours—and reaching a total of 86,979 NYC residents. In the process, they earned on average $2,157 per person—a not so small income for disadvantaged families, especially in the pandemic; and more importantly, they overcame their fear of language barriers, took on and became good at the tasks of calling strangers on the phone, and helped the City's 2020 Census outreach efforts. This got to be an amazing and unforgettable experience for our mostly new immigrant youth participants. It is certainly an impressive and heartening achievement for the program against the backdrop of the pandemic.

We owe this success to our participants, staff, and the well-coordinated guidance and support of DYCD and NYC 2020 Census.

Career & Community Development

CMP offers vocational trainings, skills preparation, and job placement service to people who are seeking employment opportunities or career advancement.

Programs within Career & Community Development worked with 1,091 individuals to assist them on the first step into a career.
Highlight on Career & Community Development

On March 3rd, 2020, CMP partnered with the NYS Department of Labor and United Healthcare to host the Careers of the Future Workshop at the United Healthcare Plaza in Flushing from 4pm-6pm. In this workshop, Elena Volovelsky (Principal Economist and Labor Market Analyst) from the Department of Labor informed participants/job seekers about the economic trends and the future job market outlook in the next 5 to 10 years. This workshop consisted information in labor market trend, determining salaries that are being paid and provide analysis of identifying the appropriate labor market for various types of positions including ancillary pay, merit and pay practices.

Quote from Jobseeker: “Thank you Michelle and CMP. I am grateful for your help and for your continuation in keeping me in the loop of each step of my job search process. Without you, I would not have gotten a job in the Accounting field within 3 months on my own.” -- Javer, Job Seeker from 8/2019

Entrepreneurship

By assisting individuals wishing to be self-employed through our business counseling, entrepreneurial training courses, and financial literacy workshops, CMP helps to maximize their investments, limit risks and potential losses, and helps to create jobs.
Entrepreneurship clients numbered to 591 that CMP was able to assist through workshops, one-on-one counseling, classroom training, and technical assistance.

Highlight on Entrepreneurship

Wendy Chen is the owner of Reedchy Nails & Spa and also a licensed cosmetologist. She has been a BOC client since 2011 and has received consultations and guidance from our business counselors in starting and growing her two nail salons in Brooklyn. Her salons offer services including manicure, pedicure, nail art, waxing, callus treatment, etc. Both salons had been doing very well over the years until the COVID-19 pandemic impacted the business. Wendy shut down her business in March following the government orders to close all non-essential businesses, and later on she was facing financial difficulties without any income from her business after the shutdown. In response to her financial hardship, our BOC counselors provided her assistance in applying for loans and grants during her difficult time and helped secure over $56,000 funds in supporting her business. Wendy also attended our webinars to learn digital marketing skills for promoting business and attracting customers at this challenging time. Through our assistance and support, her salons were reopened in July and now her business is on track of recovery as her customers are starting to come back.

Community

CMP provides a wide range of services and hosts numerous events in the community throughout the year, such as Chinese School, SAT Preparation Program, and English conversation courses.

Overwhelmingly, the most number of students served is through CMP’s Chinese School which provides Saturday, afterschool, and evening programming. English Conversation and SAT Preparation classes are led by Team Leaders from NY Cares.
Highlight on Community

After the fire on January 23, Chinese school was not knocked down, and the preparations for the spring semester were completed in the shortest time. With the assistance of CMP leadership, the OCM Church was found as the school site, and the Spring semester started on February 15th as scheduled with 550 students. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the OCM Church had to close, as did many organizations and businesses. Despite the temporary loss of Chinese School physical campus, Chinese School did not give up, and quickly switched to remote learning by using WeChat as a teaching platform. 520 students continue to study in the spring semester. 30 students graduated from junior high and elementary schools with graduation certificates; 57 students received scholarships for academic excellence. CMP Shuang Wen Afterschool Program also moved to remote learning as well. About 50 students continue the online afterschool course.

Career Advancement

During the year, CMP piloted a new program named the Career Advancement aimed at assisting individuals with no more than five years work experience to help them advance their careers.

CMP’s Career Advancement Pilot Program was successfully held on Saturday, November 9, 2019. The pilot program was an intense one-day journey which attracted 15 participants with 3-5 years of work experience that were looking to enter Corporate America or wanted to advance their careers in Corporate America. Participants have received lots of valuable career advice and guidance from our 20 corporate volunteer speakers and coaches representing various industries and functions of the corporate sector in self-discovery and assessment to unlock their potential, building their own brand, improving soft skills, job discovery and advancement, as well as tips of improving networking skills. After presentations of each topic, participants were divided into one-on-one session with supportive coaches and receive sustainable strategies and recommendations for professional growth and development. What excited participants most was the Networking Reception at the end of the program for them to practice the networking tips learned during the day.

“My coach is great. I am so glad to see CMP brought in so many great speakers and coaches who are willing and able to help! This program would make an impact to my plan in advancing my career.” --- Elizabeth, Program Participant

Looking Ahead
CMP will continue to work on programs to benefit the community. CMP’s virtual gala is scheduled in the Fall. We look forward to seeing you in the new year!
