Leslie Herger
Art Therapist - 2021

Originally hailing from coastal Maine, Leslie has resided in the North Shore longer than she did in Maine. She works in a variety of media with a strong focus on incorporating recycled materials. These pieces often find their way into artist’s books or other sequential art. Her work lately has focused on exploring the changing landscape around her through the use of collagraph and intaglio printmaking.

Through work with many populations she’s acted as a guide to assist the exploration of life through art. She’s taught art and brought art therapy to many over the years and looks forward to continuing that with RAW!
