Open Day Sunday, 4 April 2021 Hours: 11am till 4pm

Dear friends and colleagues

We would like to invite you to BigCi Open Day featuring current artists in residence and their work:

Camie Lyons, sculptor. Drawing in Space is a theme of endless curiosity for Camie. She spent her time in a fever of unquestioned, physical making, and through this process a path was revealed. Large surfaces and mark-making explored in that period were refined, released from the wall and drawn into space.

Camie's BigCi residency is supported by Sculpture in the Scenic World.

Heather Matthew, paper artist. Heather uses the dynamic action of making paper landscapes to embed resilience of both the human spirit and the earth into her material narratives. During her performative paper pouring, she will invite people to hold an imaginative projection of the world in balance - blue oceans, clean air and stabilised ice caps - mirroring our 'blue marble' planet as photographed from space by the astronauts.

Sally Kidall, conceptual installation artist. Through site-responsive environmental interventions that stimulate conceptual listening and deep seeing, Sally aims to create experiential encounters with place. Visitors will be invited to engage with her new immersive light projection interventions that occupy interior and exterior sites within BigCi and explore concepts of underland and its subterranean networks and communities.

Sally is the winner of the 2020 BigCi Directors Choice Environmental Award.

We all look forward to seeing you on the 4 April 2021.

This is a free event. Everyone is welcome.
