2014 Chapel Hill Expert Survey

July 2015
Version 2015.1

This dataset provides the data for the 2014 Chapel Hill Expert Survey on the positioning of 268 political parties on political ideology, European integration, and policy positions in 31 countries, including all EU member states.<sup>1</sup> The survey also includes parties in Norway, Switzerland and Turkey. The survey was administered between December 2014 and February 2015 to 337 experts specializing in political parties and European integration in one of the countries considered.

The Chapel Hill expert survey was conducted by Ryan Bakker, Erica Edwards, Liesbet Hooghe, Seth Jolly, Gary Marks, Jonathan Polk, Jan Rovny, Marco Steenbergen and Milada Vachudova. The CHES team gratefully acknowledges funding from the following organizations and grants.

- The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill’s European Union Center of Excellence.
- The European Union’s ERC Advanced Grant on Causes and Consequences of Multilevel Governance (No. 249543) and its Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme (No. 649281).
- A public grant overseen by the French National Research Agency (ANR) as part of the “Investissements d’Avenir” program LIEPP (ANR-11-LABX-0091, ANR-11-IDEX-0005-02), and by the Swedish Research Council (Vetenskapsrådet), grant number 421-2012-1188.
- Riksbankens Jubileumsfond, grant number P13-1090:1.

The 2014_CHES_dataset_means.dta Stata file contains average expert judgments per political party. The 2014_CHES_dataset_expert-level.dta dataset provides information at the level of the individual expert and allows researchers to aggregate expert scores and estimate standard deviations among expert judgments. The survey questionnaire specifies the full question format.<sup>2</sup>

*In papers or publications utilizing this dataset, we ask users to refer to the dataset as the 2014 Chapel Hill expert survey and cite documentation as follows (this citation will be replaced by the article of record for the data set when information is available):

<sup>1</sup>Luxembourg, Cyprus, and Malta are included, but users should note that fewer than 4 surveys were completed for each country. Norway also has a low response rate, with only 3 complete surveys.

<sup>2</sup>The dataset files and questionnaires are available on the website (chesdata.eu) in Stata (.dta) and .csv formats.

Most Important Issue

Entries for the next three questions are a summary of the expert responses to the Most Important Issue question. Each expert ranked one issue as the most important, one issue as the second most important, and one issue as the third most important issue. In this dataset, we aggregate these responses using a simple ordinal voting technique. For each party, an issue received 10 points if it is ranked as the #1 issue by an expert, 5 points if it is ranked #2 by an expert, and 1 point if it is ranked #3 by an expert. After adding together the issue scores for all the experts for each individual party, we ranked each issue by the total number of points, yielding the MIP_ONE, MIP_TWO, and MIP_THREE variables. As the table shows, some parties have ties for the most important issue questions, which reflects the experts' uncertainty or disagreement on particular parties.<sup>3</sup>

MIP_ONE = most important issue for the party over the course of 2014.

MIP_TWO = second most important issue for the party over the course of 2014.

MIP_THREE = third most important issue for the party over the course of 2014.

<sup>3</sup>Note that this expert MIP question must be summarized differently than standard position scores, where we use the mean, because the variable is not ordered in any substantively meaningful way. Survey users are welcome to investigate the raw MIP data in the expert-level dataset, or to handle ties as they see fit.
