KONO (Koreatown Northgate) Community Benefit District

KONO is in its tenth year and the association has successfully proven its value as an economic re-generator for the district on Telegraph Avenue between 20th and 35th Streets in Oakland, CA. KONO is situated between the roaring Uptown Entertainment district and the flourishing Temescal District. It is also neighboring the Broadway Auto Row district and sits between the MacArthur and 19th Street BART stations near Downtown Oakland.

The KONO district has transformed from a state of urban blight with mostly vacant commercial storefronts, some for many years, to one of Oakland’s premier shopping, dining and living destinations plus a tourist target. This transformation is attributable to the CBD’s work in business attraction and retention through marketing efforts, beautification projects, and security and maintenance of the area.

KONO now has a concentration of the art galleries, a variety of ethnic dining, retail, craft beer pubs, and the highly successful monthly Oakland First Fridays art, music, food and cultural event which draws over 30,000 visitors each month.
About The CBD

The KONO nonprofit 501c3 association is funded by a special property tax approved by the property owner’s votes with a plan to accelerate the economic development and improve the quality of life in the district.

The CBD (Community Benefit District) works to ensure the district is safe, clean and promoted. The non-profit’s Board of Directors are property owners (2/3), business owners, and community residents within the district and all serve a two year term as volunteers.

As evidenced by the renaissance of this community, the association has been extremely successful in its efforts. KONO is eager to renew and expand in 2018 to continue the revitalization work in the district.

KONO’s 2016 annual budget is allotted to security and beautification projects, marketing businesses in the district and promoting economic development.

KONO’s Accomplishments

Sales tax revenue jumped 35% from 2014 to 2015. The fourth quarter of 2016 went up 13.5% from fourth quarter 2015, and there is a 95% increase in sale tax revenue since 2006, continuing KONO as the unparalleled leader in Oakland’s economic progression.

First Protected Bike Lane in the City of Oakland

KONO collaborated with the City of Oakland, the community and the local bike organizations to successfully install protected bike lanes in the district. This work was done by utilizing a grant from the Department of Transportation. According to Bike East Bay on April 1, 2017, “63% of people walking Telegraph report feeling safer with the changes and in 2016 for the first time in five years no pedestrian collisions were reported in the KONO District.

Overall, collisions on Telegraph Avenue are down 40%, a great trend directly attributed to the new bike lanes, sales in the KONO District are up 9% over 2015 sales. The vast majority of bicyclists (79%) on the street report feeling safer and 52% of them are biking more often on Telegraph Avenue.” KONO looks forward to continuing to make improvements to the new bike lanes.
Beautification

More Street Trees

KONO has continued to work with the Sierra Club to monitor the health of the 83+ street trees that KONO planted between 2013 and 2014. In 2016 Sierra Club received a grant from Cal Fire and planted 17 additional trees in KONO bringing the count of new KONO trees to 100. Some of these trees are planted down 25th Street and 29th street. KONO has installed water bags, tree stakes and mulch on the trees to assure their survival.

Mosaics on Litter Containers

KONO administration applied for and was awarded a grant from the Fleishacker Foundation which funded four mosaics on four litter containers. The KONO Board funded a mosaic on one litter container, totalling five cans. KONO also received approval from Adopt-A-Spot to complete the mosaics. The local artist, Juan Lopez was selected to install the mosaics. The mosaics beautify the District and serve as a tool for graffiti abatement.

Utility Art Boxes

KONO commissioned artists to repaint utility art boxes that were damaged by graffiti with new art. The boxes have served well for graffiti abatement. Several boxes have lasted up to four years with no graffiti.

Security & Operations

Homelessness

KONO administration and Safety 1st have worked diligently with the City, Operation Dignity, and other organizations to provide resources for the homeless people in the district. After coordinating with the City and other organizations, KONO was successful in getting homeless encampments removed from two bus shelters and one parklet.

Clean and Safe: Ambassadors

Through a contract with the maintenance and security company, Safety 1st, KONO has successfully removed three and three quarter tons of illegal dumping, 2,375 bags of trash, and abated 820 issues of graffiti (average 68 per month) in 2016. Safety 1st responded to 852 calls from merchants and property owners and directly interacted with homeless people in the district 624 times. The Safety 1st ambassador team worked a total of 6,324 hours in 2016.

Security Camera Registry

KONO administration informed businesses and property owners of the security camera registry with the Oakland Police Department. This provides OPD with a list of locations they can go to quickly to access video if a crime is committed in the area. Several KONO property and business owners signed up for this service.

Other Community Involvement with Security

KONO staff members and the Safety 1st ambassadors have attended several NCPC (Neighborhood Crime Prevention Council) meetings. These meetings are a place where the community can express their concerns and experiences regarding safety and security to the Community Resource Officer (CRO) for the district, the beat officers, and the City of Oakland Neighborhood Service Coordinator (NSC).

These issues are then addressed by all available resources including KONO and Safety 1st. KONO held a meeting connecting the new Taco Bell owners with residents to discuss their concerns, determine solutions, and follow up with their implementation. KONO has also successfully advocated for an Oakland Police Department foot patrol officer for the district. KONO staff meets regularly with the Community Resource Officer, foot patrol officer, and beat officer to discuss concerns in the district.
Marketing & Identity

Marketing

The KONO administration has successfully provided online marketing for the district’s businesses and has kept owners informed about new laws and policies which impact them, such as the recent composting laws for small businesses.

KONO recruited volunteers to take photos of each business so each business in the directory has a corresponding image, hours of operation, and contact information. Additionally, a list of commercial vacancies has been updated on the website. The vacancy rate for the district is the lowest it has been in ten years.

KONO advocated for the Free B-Shuttle which now travels through the district. The Administration submitted several KONO businesses to be highlighted in Spotlight Oakland, the Chambers newsletter.

Economic Development/Land Use

KONO Administration invited several property developers to present about their proposed projects in the District to the Board and the Community. This provided a platform for representatives of the community to be included in the conversations about these developments and for developers to gain useful feedback.

KONO Administration has also been highly involved with the Arts and Garage District which is developing a resolution to prevent artist displacement and preserve the arts businesses in the District. KONO staff has attended several community meetings for the Arts and Garage District that have involved property owners, business owners, and heads of departments from the City of Oakland. KONO has also had representatives of the Arts & Garage District make presentations to the KONO Board about their intentions and action plan for preserving arts in the District.
KONO Administration has made exceptional efforts to support and advocate for property owners, business owners, and the community in 2016. KONO maintained communication with stakeholders through emails and newsletters and provided a 2015 annual report to communicate the many accomplishments and contributions that KONO CBD has made to keep the community safe, clean, and green.

Administration has also maintained and updated the database of property owner information through the county assessor’s office records. KONO staff attended an educational conference for the California Downtown Association on Homelessness and transportation which provided information about resources and current issues that affect the area. KONO has run two successful fundraising campaigns to get local businesses to support Oakland First Fridays, KONO’s monthly arts and cultural event. Additionally, Oakland First Fridays brings in a significant amount of business for local businesses during the event. Also, KONO has successfully renewed its Green Business Certification. Lastly, KONO received $2427 in donations for 2016 from enthusiastic property owners. KONO’s many accomplishments would not be possible without a very hardworking and focused staff.

In 2016, KONO made several additions to the staff. KONO added a new Executive Assistant in May of 2016. Also, KONO successfully recruited a Public Policy Intern to assist with resolving issues surrounding a city requirement for Oakland First Friday vendors to have Business Tax Licenses to vend. KONO also brought on an intern who was a college student majoring in accounting. He was acquired through an academic internship council program at UC Berkeley. KONO also conducted staff job reviews to ensure all staff members are performing at an optimal level. As there have been some additions to the staff, there have also been additions to the KONO Board.

The KONO Board has gained two new Board members. KONO staff provides the Board with financial reports each month in collaboration with the local accounting office. The Board represents property owners in the district who vote on a myriad of different issues and opportunities in the District to progress it further in its mission to serve the community and effectively allocate the budget of the CBD.
Renewal

KONO CBD has begun the process of its 10 year renewal which determines the continued existence of the CBD and its services for the district. Administration created an RFP for consultants who specialize in CBD renewal, met with each of the companies and successfully negotiated a 5% discount with the business of choice, NBS partnered with Urban Transformation.

Additionally, KONO established a CBD Renewal Steering Committee with stakeholders. The Committee established expansion areas. Administration successfully sent out surveys to existing and expansion area property owners to obtain feedback on how the organization is performing in the existing area and explore the interest in the expansion areas.

The surveys showed overwhelmingly positive results which serve as a good indication of the likelihood of renewal.
Future 2017 Projects

More Plants
KONO is now partnering with another local nonprofit organization to beautify the tree wells between 20th and 27th Streets on Telegraph Ave by planting native shrubs, pollen friendly and drought tolerant plants, and utilizing free grey water through EBMUD. Planting Justice will contract with KONO for the planting & maintenance (watering and weeding) of the tree wells for one year until the plants become established.

... and Planter Boxes
City of Oakland, The Department of Transportation, will provide KONO with 70 self-watering planter boxes to be placed strategically in the beige areas of the protected bike lanes to improve the safety of the bike lane design by preventing autos from parking in restricted areas. KONO is working on obtaining a maintenance contract for these planter boxes.

Painted Utility Boxes
KONO will be inviting back artists to repaint any utility boxes that have been damaged or vandalized. In the several years the district has had the painted boxes, they have served well for graffiti abatement and creating something beautiful out of something otherwise unsightly. The project also serves well to promote local artists.

Art in the Bike Lanes
KONO administration has been obtaining quotes from artists in the community to paint the beige areas, or ‘bulb outs’, in the bike lanes. KONO has been working with Bike East Bay, a local bike organization, in an effort to generate funding for the project. It has also been suggested that the KONO logo be painted in some of the bulb outs. This would be a good opportunity for marketing/branding the district.

More Murals
KONO Administration will be applying to more grants to receive funding for additional murals in the district. The optimal locations for them will be “hot spots” or places in the neighborhood that have frequent graffiti. Also, after two years of KONO acting as the mediator in negotiations between the property owner, the business owner and the artist, a local artist will complete a vast mural that is on the Stork Club building. The artist is receiving funding through grants for materials on the completion day of the mural, KONO would like to hold a ribbon cutting ceremony and invite the community.

Quality of Life/ Safety
There will be more effort and resources put towards the improvement of quality of life. Currently the safety ambassadors are waking up the homeless people sleeping in the business doorways before the businesses open. However, they are also talking with them and connecting them with the resources they need in order to get them into housing. For security, there is an initiative to offer KONO businesses funding to be matched if they install cameras that cover public space and register with the Oakland Police Department. Additionally, KONO would like to obtain a matching grant if KONO businesses install external lights on their buildings. KONO would like to find funding for pedestrian street lights on some of the darker side streets between Telegraph Ave and Broadway after hearing complaints from the residents.

Branding/ Marketing
Marketing and Branding projects include installing new banners on the street polls. Also, KONO has commissioned a local artist to paint a stencil of the KONO logo on the doors of litter containers in the district. The logo will be eye-catching and visible to passersby and drivers.
