The Key

The Key
A golden key, the best of all,
awaits with hope our beck and call the door it opens is by far a wider door than others are.
It's not made by any mere machine in no locksmith's shop can it be seen.
For each must search his heart and mind
if this golden key he wants to find.
For it opens the door to a world
of success,
and the treasure of love and happiness.

JOHN BERNARD CASEY

Mr. Casey entered the Boston School System in September 1915 as a history teacher at The High School of Commerce.

Later, he was promoted to Roxbury Memorial High School as Head of the History Department.

He was soon appointed as Headmaster to South Boston Evening School.

It was in April 1939 that Mr. Casey became Headmaster of our own Jamaica Plain High School.

In his years of dedicated service to the school, he formed The Key Club, among other activities of the student body, and initiated the cooperation between the Kiwanis Club and the Key Club which was soon copied in most Boston high schools.

Mr. Casey is the father of four and grandfather of nine, and father "in loco parentis," to thousands who came under his kindly supervision.

We, who most recently received the benefit of his guidance, judgment, and leadership dedicate "The Key," our yearbook, to Mr. John B. Casey who brought to a close, forty five years of inspiring educational leadership in 1960.

May his years as Master Emeritus be many, pleasant, and happy.

Senior Council

WELCOME To Our New Headmaster:

We, your pupils, who knew you as a teacher of English, Mr. Brickley, were overjoyed when we heard you were to succeed Mr. Casey. You had already played a large part in our school lives, and were then promoted to be Headmaster in our senior year.

The Class of 1961 welcomes you to your new office and wishes you a long and successful tenure therein. Your wisdom and understanding will certainly prove of inestimable value to the students of the future as it has already done for us.

May the future senior classes have as pleasant years with you as Headmaster as we have enjoyed as students and seniors.

Best Wishes from

The Class of 1961

Edward F. Brickley

Headmaster

Mixed emotions season this, my first message to a graduating class. Loss of the higher, the more intimate, the more personally satisfying association of teacher and student that once existed between many of you and me, fills me with the realization that no class of the future can occupy quite the same place in my memory. The Class of 1961 inevitably means faces, names, and happy relationships that I shall always treasure.

Your advance in judgment, intellectual curiosity, consideration, and wisdom I have followed closely. Your growth justifies the confidence and the hope that the future will be truly rich for you and yours, not so much in the worldly material sense, but in the personal pride and satisfaction that rises from peace with one’s best self.

Edward F. Brickley

Class Will

Be it remembered that we of Jamaica Plain High, feeling that we are of sound mind and memory, (although our teachers sometimes doubt it) but knowing the uncertainty of our future, do make this our Last Will and Testament, hereby revoking all former wills by us at anytime heretofore made.

After the payment of our debts of the Yearbook and Clarion, we bequeath and devise our possessions as follows:

Mr. Donaghy: a squirt gun so he can defend himself against his water faucet.
Mr. McGuckian: a safety patrol badge and a traffic light to stop the mad rush to the lunchroom.
Mr. Bond: a solid gold book-end and a 3 minute miler for next year.
Miss Russell: a male partner for teaching those exotic dances to the girls.
Miss Hurley: a complete class of Irish students.
Mrs. Hurley: a supply of tranquilizers for teachers who become upset over our leaving.
Miss Mullin and associates: a complete shopping center and business district so that all students will have the jobs they want or a bigger waiting room.
Mr. Duffy: an umbrella concession for the convenience of his pupils on rainy days.
Miss Robinson: an automatic window opener and a supply of storm jackets for winter weather in her class.
Mr. McKenney: a copy of the record, “Smoke Gets in Your Eyes.”
Mrs. Quinn: a platoon of armed Marines to protect her from the stampede in the lunch line.
Miss Buckley: a book entitled, “101 Nice Ways to Obtain Silence from Teen-agers.”
Miss Hennessy: a supply of sun glasses for her home-room.
Miss Driscoll: 5,000 needles already threaded.
Mr. Good: a Year Book staff that will appreciate and admire him as much as this year's does.
Mr. Mealy: that marvelous day when everyone without exception is present and passes in a neat home-lesson.
Mr. Brickley: a year's supply of hats so that he will be able to attend all the social functions.
Miss Dempsey: an English class of all “A” students.
Miss Hubbard: an automatic plant watering system.
Miss Hayes: a class of Healthful Agile Youthful Energetic Sophomores.

Mr. Crowley: a private telephone and chains for his treasured books.
Miss Kelley and Mrs. Farley: a lifetime subscription to the magazine, “Scalpel in Hand” for the do-it-yourself biologist.
Miss Forte: complete reproductions of all the great masters of art, including us.
Miss O'Malley and Mr. Landrigan: the promise of a revival of the Democratic-Republican Party to keep them both happy next election day.
Miss Thompson: a life time subscription to the Essay of the Week Club.
Mr. Dugan: a student time clock.
Miss Margaret Maguire: her own private collection agency.
Miss Marie Maguire: an automatic tapper to save wear and tear on her ruler.
Miss Phillips: a permanent placement committee.
Colonel Murphy: another RAG class.
Mr. Wendler: a sheriff’s star for his off-duty locker room tasks.
Mr. O'Leary: we leave five hundred packs of juicy fruit gum and one student in bookkeeping who knows what he is talking about.
Miss McGettrick: un cuadri de cuarenta pies de quitard spanold.
Miss McCourt: an alert freshman English class for first period.
Mr. Orstein: a year’s supply of student passes signed by all the teachers in the school.
Miss Sullivan: Latin students who will pronounce viene, vini, vinci-wiene, wini, winci.
Miss Thyne: a day when her trial balances, adjustments, profit and loss statement and balance, will total evenly.
Mrs. Gleekman: a private hairdresser for Mr. Casey’s unexpected visits.
Mr. McClure: a tuned piano and an all boy's choir.
Underclassmen: a wonderful head master and a dedicated faculty to love, cherish, honor and obey until graduation do you part.
