

NEW PLATFORM CONNECTS WORKERS TO JOBS

RDA Riverina has invested in a new employment platform to provide free access for potential job seekers and employers in the Riverina.

The platform – Jobs Riverina (www.jobsriverina.com.au) – is a one-stop-portal allowing job seekers to easily find work opportunities and apply online. It also gives employers a cost-free way to expand their recruitment activities to an audience specifically interested in working in the region.

Rachel Whiting CEO and Director of Regional Development said the Jobs Riverina initiative directly supports RDA Riverina’s mission to help local businesses grow.

“The Riverina is a great place to live, work and play. We want to do everything we can to help employers find the right people for their business and potential employees to find careers that suit them and build our local economy.

“Jobs Riverina is a great place for employers and job seekers alike to start. The service is free and provides a range of benefits. Employers can easily upload current vacancies and job seekers are able to keep up-to-date with further education and training opportunities.

“Jobs Riverina compliments all compliments all aspects of RDA Riverina’s workforce development plan designed to encourage local businesses to grow and attract new businesses to our beautiful part of the world.”
