Section 1 -- About the Barefoot & Gardner Awards

Beginning in March 2020, the Gardner Institute will publicly recognize postsecondary institutions that have taken active steps to successfully mitigate inequitable performance gaps for historically minoritized and marginalized populations. The annual award was created and named by friends and colleagues of Drs. Betsy O. Barefoot and John N. Gardner, the Gardner Institute’s co-founders, to recognize and honor their deep commitment to and advocacy for more just and equitable postsecondary learning experiences.

Specifically, one two-year and one four-year institution will be selected as the inaugural recipients of the Barefoot & Gardner Awards. The Barefoot & Gardner Awards will recognize postsecondary institutions in the United States that have demonstrated, with strong evidence, their commitment to working toward the attainment of more equitable outcomes, at scale, in undergraduate education.

Applications for the inaugural award will be accepted until 11:59 p.m. Eastern on January 17, 2020. Please plan and submit accordingly.
