September 9, 2022:  Get the care and help you need

- The U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS/Immigration) has finalized its public charge regulations.
  - The regulations confirm that health care, food assistance and housing programs are not counted in a public charge test.
  - The public charge test does not count benefits for family members, including dependents.
- The regulations take effect 12/23/2022. Check back for updates.
- California residents, ages 0-25 years & 50+, may qualify for full-scope Medi-Cal regardless of immigration status.
- Use the Guide to see which immigrants face a public charge determination.
